French Foreign Minister ges Bidault (left) escorts his guest Russia's Vyacheslav M Molotov, to the door after dinner at Bidault s Big Four conference residence in West Berlin Molotov had Bidault to dinner last Tuesday so the event was a returned favor After the dinner, attended by prominent members of both nations, the two foreign ministers had a private talk.

Meet in Soviet Sector

Reds Hosts as Big 4 Debate Is Resumed

BERLIN (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers convened in the Russian sector of divided Berlin this afternoon after a Sunday recess in their global talks which now are pinpointed on the vexing problem of uniting Germany.

As host and chairman for the day Soviet Minister V M Molotov greeted his colleagues in the "Hall of Mirrors"—where a round table 12 feet in diameter was set up for the parley.

U S Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was first to arrive followed by French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden was last

The Western three went east, braced to ward off a 'Molotov cocktail'—a plan for a unified Germany too weak and isolated to resist Russia

Experts of the Western delegations met during the morning to map strategy on the German issue The three ministers assembled in the American sector to go over the main agreed points shortly before the first Big Four session of the week in East Berlin

The Big Four moved east about as far apart as ever on all major world problems they have considered

1 They are deadlocked on holding a Big Five conference to include Red China

2 They are supporting rival plans for uniting Germany so radically in conflict that another deadlock appears inevitable

3 U S Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister V M Molotov have had their first brief feel out on President Eisenhower s proposal to establish a world atomic pool for peace, but so far the talk has been confined to the procedure for getting negotiations started

Bus Crashes, Burns In Quebec, 14 Dead

TROIS RIVIERES Que (AP)—Provincial police and sorrowing relatives pressed on today at the grim task of identifying the last of 14 persons who died Saturday night in a burning bus near Yamachiche, 15 miles west of here

The bodies of two of the passengers who were trapped in the inferno still lay unclaimed in the Trois Rivieres morgue after hundreds of persons filed past the charred remains yesterday

Eight passengers staggered or were pulled to safety through the smoke-filled flame-swept bus aisle after a big car-transport truck crashed into the front left-hand corner of the bus, ripped along the side and came to rest against the emergency door Flames engulfed both vehicles almost immediately.

Eisenhower Scans Treaty Compromise

Finds One Big Legal And Constitutional Problem Yet Unsolved

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower looked over the latest proposed compromise on the Bricker treaty-power amendment today, and was reported to be inclined to endorse it if one "major legal and constitutional problem can be cleared up"

Sen Knowland of California the Senate Republican leader gave that report to newsmen after he and other GOP leaders reviewed the controversy with the President at a 2½ hour White House conference

Silent on Problem

Knowland declined to say just what is the legal and constitutional problem to be cleared up

And he emphasized there was no definite agreement on the part of the President to support the proposed compromise

The senator added however he was 'much encouraged about the prospects for an agreement

He said he and his colleagues were returning to the Capitol to consult with the Democratic leaders of the Senate and with Sen Bricker (R-Ohio).

Bricker author of a controversial proposed constitutional amendment to restrict treaty-making powers announced yesterday he would accept a compromise drafted by Senate GOP leaders if Eisenhower in turn would agree to support it

Bricker confirmed yesterday he had agreed to elimination of a clause that says 'a treaty shall become effective as internal law in the United States only through legislation which would be valid in the absence of treaty'

Cardinal Principles

Eisenhower had denounced this clause, saying it would give the states power to repudiate some treaties Bricker disputed that contention but said that if his amendment were adopted some treaties bearing on domestic matters could be implemented only by state action

Without detailing the exact language of the compromise Bricker said on an NBC television program he is satisfied it will 'meet the cardinal principles' of his original proposal

He insisted that the "which clause was not the heart of this controversy" He said he disliked opposing the first Republican administration in 20 years, and that he would be happy if the administration decided to support the compromise

New Version

He reiterated that his purpose is to erect 'a bulwark to prevent treaties from subverting the rights of the American people" He said there is a real threat that some form of world government might be slipped over on the American people through treaties

With the controversial "which clause' deleted GOP leaders hoped the President would consent to new language which would (A)

Hunt for Lost Toledoan Led By Sister, 20

MOUNT WASHINGTON, N H (AP)—A plucky 20 year old college girl led a party of veteran woodsmen and Army climbers up the slopes of Mount Washington today in search of her brother, whose companion was found dead of exposure yesterday.

Polly Longeneckei Connecticut college junior, had been with her brother, Phil 25 of Toledo Ohio, and Harvard senior Jacques Parysko 23 of Cambridge, Mass., when they built an igloo Friday in treacherous Tuckerman ravine

Avalanche Hits Camp

She came down to the base at Pinkham Notch Saturday Sometime later an avalanche apparently swept over the igloo Parysko s lightly clad body was found by skiers He evidently lost his equipment and was paralyzed by cold as he started down the mountain

Joe Dodge veteran manager of the Appalachian Club said it was the 37th recorded death on the 6-288 foot mountain, highest in New England

Longeneckei and Parysko were working on a series of survival experiences under Arctic conditions

Dodge said it was about 20 below zero overnight at the summit of the mountain with a maximum wind velocity of 80 miles an hour

Use Army Weasels

Army weasels were used by the searchers for the first mile and a half up the mountain From there on the climbing will be on foot

Polly clung to the hope her brother had escaped from the igloo and had taken refuge in one of the huts on the mountain side

Schedule Changed

Buses Back in Operation After 10 Days of Idleness

Bus service was restored in Marion early this morning by the Marion Transit Co. following 10 days during which no buses ran because of a dispute between the drivers and the company

Wilbur Poolman company manager said this morning that resumption of service came off without a hitch

IN ADDITION to bus schedules previously announced the company will operate special school buses on the same schedule in force at the time service ceased Jan 22 when the drivers quit because banks would not cash their checks

Resumption of service brought a few schedule changes including a change in the Center-Davids route from 20 minute service to 30-minute service

Poolman said today that during peak hours extra buses would be added to this route to take care of aditional passengers If needed extra buses will be added to other routes to take care of overflow passengers he said

ONLY OTHER change was in the Silver Mt Vernon Ave route which is now on one hour service with buses leaving for Silver St from the Courthouse on the hour and those for Mt Vernon Ave on the half hour

There was no change in the Northeast and Southwest loops

With the buses again operating City Council will meet tonight to hear a report from Floyd Kreisel company president concerning future plans of the company Council has asked that Kreisel give some assurance bus service will continue with no further interruptions of service

This request came as a result of a meeting held by council last Wednesday night at which the company was warned it must either restore service this morning or action would be taken to revoke its franchise

U. S. Planes, MIGs Battle Near Korea

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force said today U S planes and MIG15 jet fighters fought a sharp engagement near the Korean coast only 10 days ago after a U S reconnaissance bomber was attacked

No American aircraft were lost but one of the Russian made jets was shot down An Air Force spokesman here who had only terse information on the incident, said so far as was known in Washington there were no U S casualties nor plane damage

'Assumed Communists'

As for the nationality of the MIG pilots he said only, It is safe to assume they were Communists

This was the first known clash between U S and Communist planes since the Korean armistice was signed July 27 Whether by coincidence or not it occurred on a day of considerable tension—Jan 22 was the day on which United Nations officials released to civilian status prisoners of war who refused to be repatriated to Red held territory The Communists had insisted they must be kept in neutral custody However, no serious incident developed

The Air Force gave this account of the plane incident

A U S RB45—a light jet propelled bomber fitted for reconnaissance work—was flying a reconnaissance mission Jan 22 over international waters northwest of Sok Island, off the west coast of Korea, when 'a large formation of MIG15 jet fighters" attacked it.

Shoot Down MIG

F86 jet fighters guarding the bomber opposed the attack and in the ensuing fight shot down one MIG15

The clash apparently took place north of the 38th Parallel the old dividing line between North and South Korea.

There was a rash of incidents involving Communist and Western planes early last year A U S Thunderjet was shot down near the West German frontier by a Czech MIG15 a British bomber was attacked by Soviet MIGs near the East German border, losing five crewmen and a U S plane which the Air Force said was on a routine weather flight near Siberia was fired on The Russians insisted this plane was over Russian territory at the time

However since the Korean armistice the skies had been relatively peaceful

Road Problems

By George Sokolsky

The decay of a civilization is always marked by a deterioration of the means of communication. In older countries, these means were limited to two, land roads and waterways. The Roman Empire, for instance, was knit together by a system of roads, remnants of which still stand; the great British empire was held together by control of the seas, a control now lost and perhaps no longer necessary.

SOKOLSKY

The United States from earliest times was road conscious and as the population moved westward, the roads and trails were expanded. River traffic played an enormous role in this expansion and at one time, numerous canals were built. The dramatic development of the American railroads filled earlier generations with pride of accomplishment. The "Good Roads" movement followed the popularization of the automobile, which required surfaced roads for greater efficiency. In this movement counties, states and the federal government played the important role. It could be said at one time that the United States possessed the best road system in the world.

TODAY THAT ROAD system is disintegrating. Many features enter into this condition, wars, the large number of cars, the enormous size and weight of trailer trucks, bottlenecks that were not foreseen, bad planning, wasteful covering of ancient roads without adequate engineering, corruption, etc., etc. It is estimated that it will cost $40,000,000,000 to modernize the entire federal road system which is beyond the national capability while we are expending our wealth on past and future wars.

Now along comes a very wise man, P. W. Litchfield, chairman of the board of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, who knows more about roads, automobiles and rubber than any man I know. He says:

"We need to organize at the local level. Let's go after an adequate cure for the bottlenecks we know about through our own personal observation. Let's concentrate our efforts on getting roads built and bridges and streets widened in our own neighborhoods, in our own cities, in our own states."

MANY OF OUR GREAT efforts need decentralization. Our people have become so accustomed to expecting the federal government to do everything on a vast scale, involving billions of expenditures, that we forget the old Chinese adage that the place to start cleaning up is on one's own doorstep. While we are making huge demands on the Congress much more can be done in municipalities, counties, states. Litchfield added:

"And there, I believe, is an important missing key to a program of immediate action—aggressive organization at the local level so that the public demand for action can be aimed at specific rather than general targets. We should switch from the scatter gun to the rifle."

The lesson Mr. Litchfield teaches can be applied to many of our current problems. President Eisenhower is reported to have said that FEPC, for instance, is a local problem. If that report is correct, it represents a sound position as regards the constitutional relations between the federal government and the states. Many of the functions adopted by the federal government in recent years have been and still can be more efficiently and more expeditiously handled on a local level where citizen's groups can bring direct pressures on their representatives in state legislatures and local councils. The Tugwellian concept of the abolition of the separate states and the totalitarian centralization of a national government have not been accepted by the American people.

THE FEDERAL government, for example, can do nothing about the streets of our cities. As a result of automobile parking, the streets in many cities are becoming filthy because they cannot be cleaned, fire hazards are increased, ambulances cannot approach the curb, pedestrians are imperilled. The federal government can do nothing about that. It is a matter of municipal management, often a respose to local public opinion. In many cities, the local shopkeepers oppose any real improvement because it would keep the out-of-town trade away from the city shopping centers. But questions of this sort are always subject to local public opinion.

In many cities parked cars are hauled away and put in a pound to be reclaimed at considerable cost. This is one way to handle the problem; another is the building of municipally-maintained garages, sensibly located and operating at reasonable fees. This is now being accomplished in some cities by locating garages underneath the sod of parks. It is a practical plan.

PUCO Authorizes Fuel Gas Boost in Indian Lake Area

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state utilities commission today authorized the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. to charge higher rates to its customers in the summer resort area served by its Fremont distribution district.

The higher rates apply to the unincorporated areas of Turkey Foot, Sassafras Point, Avondale, Island View, Chippewa Park and the north shore of Indian Lake.

The higher rates will be in line with those charged customers in incorporated communities in the same area. The company claims that in 1952 it cost $22,254 to serve the unincorporated territories and it only collected $14,072 in revenue. The commission, after a hearing at which no protests were made, said the loss was "in effect subsidized by residents of the incorporated communities in the same area who pay a higher rate."

The commission said the higher rates are justified and they eliminate rate discrimination among gas users in the area.

Fishing Boat Reported Burning Off West Coast

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Coast Guard said today the fishing boat Sea Lion was "afire stem to stern" off Government Point near Point Conception, about 150 miles north of Los Angeles.

The Coast Guard said the report was received from the steamship Harry Lundeberg, which radioed it was cruising around the burning vessel searching for survivors.

Later, Globe wireless here said it picked up a message from the Lundenberg that no survivors had been found and that the vessel was proceeding to San Pedro.

ACROSS THE COUNTER

We all have favorites. Maybe in football it's Ohio State or Notre Dame. In flowers, it might be roses or potted geraniums. In colors it might be green, red or blue.

Likewise in selling insurance we have "favorites." A few types of policies—among all those we sell—seem to capture a big share of our attention and enthusiasm.

Earl J. Andrews

One of these is Comprehensive Liability Insurance. The reason it is a favorite with us is because we KNOW we are giving our clients the kind of protection they should have.

Schaffner Co. Rents Building

Use as Warehouse Planned by Company

The H. Schaffner Co., 164 S. Main St., recently signed a long-term lease on the building at 181 S. Main St. It will be used for storage.

A spokesman for the firm said the building, formerly leased by Sears, Roebuck & Co., will increase Schaffner's warehouse storage space from 26,000 square feet to 35,000.

The one new building will replace the three warehouses formerly used. This consolidation will eliminate double hauling, decrease insurance costs and payroll, and will enable the expansion of existing merchandise lines and the addition of new services, the company said.

The move is expected to take place March 1.

Operation Optimism

By Victor Riesel

Towards the end of the tumultuous 1952 presidential campaign, General Eisenhower was angered by Walter Reuther's distribution of a picture leaflet which predicted that Ike's victory would bring with it the breadlines of the early Thirties. The leaflet was loaded with photos of the unhappy, unshaven, ragged jobless waiting four abreast for a soup handout.

RIESEL

The image of this leaflet must still rankle the President, for once again he is furious over CIO charges that we are actually in a depression. And word has gone out of the White House to take on Walter Reuther and the CIO in a frontal attack and paste them with the "gloom and doom" label.

At the same time, the Administration, aided by business leaders, will hit the country with positive statements and action in an effort to show that the country is in good shape and will begin re-absorbing its jobless by next fall.

THIS OPERATION OPTIMISM is the first order of home front business for the next month. The President and his cabinet believe they can hold the jobless to about 3,500,000 and then get most of them back to work.

Typical is a recent speech by Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Oveta Culp Hobby. On Jan. 23, she reported:

"When we think of the future in terms of certain of our important national needs—of, let us say, a production potential—the prospect is bright.

"It has been estimated that: We need some forty billion dollars for schools and hospitals. We need some sixty billion dollars for highways. We need some hundred billion dollars worth of housing."

Earlier in the speech she had said, "In America in 1948, for example, our production of goods and services was over 246 billion dollars. It has been estimated that by 1960—six years from now—we will be producing 416 billions annually. And this is a moderate figure."

MRS. HOBBY'S OPTIMISM is shared by many cautious industrialists who envision new horizons for industry from such innovations as "steel skins" for buildings (enabling skyscrapers to be walled up in a few weeks) and the use of waste heat from atomic reactors —to heat residences. These aren't science fiction dreams — they're actually in use right now.

Typical of the industrialists who think 1954 will be a terrific year is General Electric's vice president, Dr. W. R. G. Baker, general manager of the company's Electronics Division in Syracuse, N. Y.

The other day he predicted that there will be 550 television stations operating by 1955—an increase of 200 broadcasting centers. To catch their shows, Dr. Baker forecast the sale of 5,200,000 regular TV sets and 100,000 color receivers, as well as a continued demand for radios—with an industry production of some 7,600,000 sets.

Because of the nature of our new military weapons, the GE executive also saw "a high level of military electronics prouction."

In terms of sales, all this added up to the distribution of 5,200,000 regular TV units with a retail value in excess of $1,400,000,000. In addition, he anticipates a $100,000,000 sale of color receivers.

The retail sales of radios will reach $23,000,000.

THE ELECTRONICS industry, according to Dr. Baker, will sell about $60,000,000 worth of two-way radios, in addition to microwave and carrier current apparatus.

Topping all this will be the sale of some $700,000,000 worth of electronic tubes in '54.

I pick the electronics field and the words of this expert because the radio-TV industry flourishes only in a luxury, prosperity era.

Similar esimates could be reported in other fields—which could not be prosperous in any recession. People don't buy this stuff if they're worried or if their bank balances are low, or if shifts are being widely cut and heavier layoffs of personnel are expected.

The point is that in the next few weeks, in testimony before the Joint Congressional Committee on the Economic Report, the country will see a picture of high prosperity coupled with a serious parallel problem — of eventually having to put some 3,500,000 jobless back to work.

However, President Eisenhower believes the country can do it.

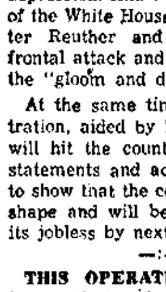
Truman Capote

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—"A city to me," said Truman Capote, forking thoughtfully at a strawberry tart, "is a place where you can get up at 3 o'clock in the morning and buy a book or a shirt.



HAL BOYLE

"In a real sense of being a city, New York is the only city in the world. It is the only one open 24 hours a day.

Capote, recently returned from Rome, has somewhat outgrown his "child wonder of the literary world" status of a few years ago. Critics then were divided over whether he was startlingly precocious or startlingly precious—whether he was a pale young genius or merely pale.

"I'm 28 now," he remarked at luncheon in the 21 Club, "and I've written four books and a play. I just finished writing the dialogue for an Italian film. Now I'm working on my third novel and doing the lyrics for a musical play, based in Haiti, called 'House of Flowers.' It's light and strange."

CAPOTE, WHO TALKS with the artistic surety of Oscar Wilde, is blond, blue-eyed and small enough to walk under the arms of a high school basketball center. He looks less like a sophisticated fawn today and more like a retired choir boy—or a rising young literary critic.

"I don't think writing for the films has anything to do with writing," he observed. "In writing for the films, the only important thing is the visual sense—the eye is everything."

But he did enjoy doing the dialogue for "Indiscretions of an American Wife," produced in Rome for Columbia Pictures by Vittorio de Sica.

"In Italy they don't rely so much on a script," he said. "They like to make things up as they go along. The film was shot in the Rome railroad terminal, and whenever they needed dialogue for the next scene I would go into another room of the station and write it.

"The Italian method of making a film wouldn't work with many Hollywood stars. If they tried it with Marilyn Monroe, it would be a disaster. But they have turned out some great pictures that way."

CAPOTE, WHO HAS had some luck in a life of hard work, has never seen a television program.

"Do you think I should take up looking at television?" he asked. "I have no opinions against it. I simply don't own a television set, and nobody I know ever looks at it.

"It sounds terribly exciting, but I dislike ephemeral things."

He feels sure, however, that video will make for better films on more adult themes.

"Television will take over all the taboos that hamper the movies now," he predicted. "When people can get all the poppycock they want on television, films will have to become more human and real in order to find an audience."

This mellowing enfant terrible of literature—he earned his living tap dancing on a river boat, painting on glass, and fortune telling while learning the writer's trade—poked moodily in the ruins of the strawberry tart, then said:

"What would bother me about working in television is that you have only the bubble of a moment. To the creative artist, his work has to be a solid thing—not an ephemeral thing, such as an actor's performance.

"THAT IS WHAT amazes me about painters. How can they sell their pictures, and let them go into strange houses where they will never see them again?

"I take the books I have written with me wherever I go—the foreign translations of them, too. Then, wherever I am, I can look at them and say, 'There is something solid.'

"I have to have a sense of permanency, because everything else in my life is so impermanent. If you are really dedicated to an art, the art becomes your only reality in the world."

When I asked Capote, still on the sunny side of 30, what he thought of Ernest Hemingway, who is 55, he replied amiably:

"I'm glad the boy's alive. He's a marvelous writer, but . . ."

Truman Capote didn't finish the sentence. He finished the strawberry tart instead.

Dewey Budget Sets New High

New York Governor Asks $1,222,700,000

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey submitted to the New York Legislature today a record high budget calling for an expenditure of $1,222,700,000 without new or increased taxes.

It was the third straight year Dewey had sent a budget exceeding a billion dollars to his Republican-controlled Legislature. The spending program outlined for the fiscal year beginning April 1 exceeds by $130,300,000 his 1953-54 budget of $1,092,400,000.

In a message tinged with optimism about the future, Dewey indicated he felt business and employment prospects for the state in the year ahead were good. He said he stood ready, however, to take emergency action to check any recession.

"In the light of the available evidence," he said, "there is no reason for anticipating a serious recession."

The only extra tax will be on harness racing tracks, from which the state intends to take more of the 15 per cent levy on pari-mutuel betting and leave less for the tracks.

Bricker

tions and one outside of it—have been turned over to secret sessions of the four foreign ministers where they can argue more freely.

Voice Optimism

Despite head-on collisions with the Russians on major issues, the Western diplomats talked optimistically about the conference. To them the most pleasing thing was the change of atmosphere.

They have taken up more subjects faster than at any previous meeting. One Western diplomat described it as the fast maneuvering of sea warfare as distinguished from the stubborn trench warfare of previous conferences.

The Russians and East Germans have done much to reduce the shock of the change in conference site from democratic and more prosperous West Berlin to totalitarian, poorer East Berlin.

The conference moved for this week from the American sector's make treaties conform to the Constitution, (B) require an act of Congress before other international agreements could override domestic law and (C) make such agreements and treaties subject to court tests. Treaties are subject to ratification by the Senate; executive agreements with other nations are not.

Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor leader, said he believes that with White House backing and with Bricker joining in offering the substitute, it would command the necessary two-thirds vote for Senate passage.

If Eisenhower turns down the compromise, Sen. George (D-Ga) predicted, no constitutional amendment will be passed at all.

Helped With Draft

George said he helped draft the compromise because he felt that politics should be cast aside and every effort made to obtain a workable amendment which would not impair the President's powers to deal with other nations.

Knowland has said at all times that he is determined to get approval of some amendment proposal.

A proposed amendment must be approved by a two-thirds majority in the Senate and House and then must be ratified by three fourths of the states before it becomes a part of the Constitution.

Age Is No Barrier To Feminine Diver

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UP) — Ella Carver looks like the hundreds of gray haired grandmothers who have come to the Florida Gulf Coast to relax in the sun, chat with their neighbors and knit sweaters for their grandchildren.

But Miss Carver, who uses her maiden name, doesn't knit or gossip for relaxation. Her idea of a good time is to climb a 90-foot steel tower, coat herself with gasoline, set it afire, and dive into a steel tank containing five feet of water.

Another one of her amusements is to climb on one of her five trained horses, and then with her mount leap from a 40-feet tower into a tank of water 12 feet deep.

Ella Carver, at 60, is a carnival performer—has been since she was 10 and following her father around the carnival circuit.

Her father originated the diving horse act the year she was born.

"Heights have never worried me," said Miss Carver. "When I was a kid in Bluefield, W. Va., I climbed every tree in the county. My mother always worried about me."

Her seven brothers and sisters decided against a carnival career. Her son, Lewis, tried the act for a while but quit to join the Navy.

The performing grandmother toured Japan and other parts of the Orient twice before World War II and still laughs over some of the experiences on the return trip.

"I kept in shape by doing aerial acts on the ship's rigging," she said. "Once I dived off the ship's bridge when we were anchored. The captain was horrified."

She has been burned repeatedly in her "fire dive," but never seriously enough to cancel her act.

Actually, Miss Carver said, she can remember only a few occasions when she was at all uneasy.

Once was at Iron Mountain, Mich., in 1938, when she misjudged a dive and hit her head on the bottom of the tank.

"My son pulled me out," she said, "I made a bow to the audience . . . and passed out cold in the dressing room."

TOURISM IN KY.

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UP)—Tourist income in Kentucky in 1952 amounted to $393,000,000, state departments have estimated, making tourism, the state's second largest industry. This was a significant change in the state's economic pattern, for coal mining traditionally has held that position, right behind agriculture.

The first known asteroid, Ceres, was discovered by Piazzi in Sicily in 1800.

Vegetables Should Have Both Eye, Taste Appeal

ITHACA, N. Y. (UP)—Cooking vegetables so they look and taste good is as important as cooking them to preserve their food value, says Eleanor Williams, Cornell University nutritionist.

"Vegetables should look and taste so good the whole family will enjoy them," she said.

Perishable vegetables are at their peak in both flavor and nutritive value when freshly picked.

If you must buy vegetables at the market, she advised, "whenever possible, choose those which are kept under refrigeration or on ice, and beware of vegetables that are marked down. When they are bruised, wilted, or overripe, they frequently are low in food value."

Fresh vegetables should be washed, wrapped in waxed paper or put in covered containers for refrigerator storage. Carrot and beet tops draw some of the nutrients out of the vegetables and should be trimmed off immediately, she said.

Except for those with strong flavor, and some green ones, vegetables should be cooked in a tightly covered kettle with as little water as possible. She suggested saving any left-over cooking water for soup stocks and gravies to get full food value.

Big Four

Allied Control Authority Building to the shiny new five-million-dollar Russian Embassy on the Unter Den Linden, a stone's throw from the ruins of the prewar American Embassy.

Meet in Hall of Mirrors

The Foreign ministers are meeting in the large, well-heated Hall of Mirrors. Five huge mirrors reflect its splendor—pink marble columns, rich walnut and birch trim, and heavy ornate chandeliers with masses of lights.

Restrictions on movement between the East and West sectors have been reduced. Eastern store windows have been packed with goods seen before only in West Berlin shops.

But as the conference went into its second week, no evidence that the Soviets were changing their basic aims was manifested.

Just before midnight Saturday, the East Germans published their own plan for uniting Germany. Westerners were certain it was drafted in the Kremlin for Molotov to sponsor in Berlin, even though the East German announcement contained no specific Soviet endorsement.

Slavic Booby Traps

One quick look at it was enough to convince the men from the West it was a Slavic booby trap—a prefabricated Czechoslovakia.

It provided that the Communist bosses of the 18 million East Germans would have as many votes in a new government as the 50 million West Germans.

It would pit the solid phalanx of the one-party East regime against West Germany's democratically divided several parties. Russian guns would remain in East Germany until the new government was set up to the Reds' satisfaction.

It is a sharp contrast to British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden's plan, which contained the West's demand that free elections should be held first of all to choose a democratic German government with which the occupying powers could make peace.

The East German plan is designed to tie a united Germany to Russia. The Eden plan would swing it to the West.

Would Be Denied Vote

The Communist demands also included the holding of Soviet-style elections only after a peace treaty is signed. Certain classes, usually described by the Reds as professional people, capitalists and landlords, would be denied the vote.

The East German plan called for seven steps in making peace with Germany—scrapping of the European army pact and West Germany's peace contract with the West, banning of "militaristic and fascist organizations," establishment of an all-German provisional government, unifying elections under German control, withdrawal of all occupation troops, immediate banning of atomic and bacteriological weapons in Germany and prohibition against her joining any "warlike coalition," which in Communist parlance means the European army.

British Educator Feels Too Many Seek Degrees

LONDON (INS) — A British educator believes there would be less frustration, unhappiness and waste in the world today if fewer people tried to get a university education.

T. R. Henn, fellow and senior tutor at St. Catherine's College, Cambridge University, set at 15 percent the proportion of the British population qualified to enter a university.

The remainder, he told a world conference on medical education in London, did not have the intelligence, training, personality and mental fiber to withstand the strain of higher education.

Henn ascribed many student failures and breakdowns — including suicides — to the forcing of undergraduates into work against their true inclinations.

He said that teachers and students also have failed to develop what he called "a sane attitude" towards examinations.

Henn declared:

"Who cares in 10 or 20 years' time what class of degree a man gets, except, lamentably, in the teaching profession, whose members magnify its importance?"

Man Elected to Payless Postion To Do Nothing

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (UP)—Hiram Milton carried on a vigorous campaign to be elected to a job with no pay for doing nothing.

The 32-year-old real estate dealer piled up 286,000 votes in winning the office of Allegheny County surveyor. He amassed the second highest total among the successful candidates.

The job pays nothing but is required under Pennsylvania's constitution. The surveyor was an important official in the old days when there were thousands of acres of unclaimed land.

But Milton said he will look around the hillier sections of Allegheny County for an unclaimed patch or two. An old statute of 1859 provides 25 and 50-cent fees for new claims.

Milton said he ran for office because he always liked politics. Meanwhile, he'll stay in the real estate business just to keep the wolf from the door.

Russian

eve of his scheduled departure for Russia.

There was speculation that the Russian had been flown Saturday to Okinawa, a huge U. S. base 700 miles south of here.

Soviet Statement

S. I. Runov, spokesman for the Russian mission, called in Japanese reporters and issued a prepared statement accusing "the American espionage organ in Japan" of seizing and holding Rastovorov.

The U. S. State Department and Far East Command had no comment.

Rastovorov was known to be an intelligence agent. The Russian diplomats had free run of Japan and have been in a position to gather information on U. S. bases.

Kyodo news agency reported earlier that Rastovorov was being returned to the Soviet Union to explain how he botched a spy assignment.

Kyodo said Japanese police had caught Rastovorov last spring buying American jet secrets from a U. S. airman here. The Air Force denied this.

Rasovorov was one of several dozen Soviet diplomats who stayed behind after the Japanese Peace Treaty was signed in April 1952. Since the Soviet Union has not signed the peace treaty, the mission has no official status as it did during the occupation.

Intellegence Officers

A reliable source said 32 of the Russians remaining were intelligence officers.

The Soviet statement said Japanese police, who were asked by the Russians to find Rastovorov, had not been able to locate him. It also said Rastovorov was "very happy" at the prospect of returning to the Soviet Union.

"When the facts . . . are compared together with the data on hand . . . regarding the special interest which the American espionage division had in Rastovorov, then the mysterious disappearance of Rastovorov becomes clear," the statement said.

"All this forms the foundation to believe that Rastovorov has been seized and is being detained by the American espionage organ in Japan with the aim of provocation of the Soviet Union."

American newsmen were not invited to the press conference.

The Russians' report of Rastovorov was suffering from a "nervous breakdown."

The request appeared designed to fish for information and to lay the foundation for charges of kidnaping or that Rastovorov was insane, should he cooperate with U. S. authorities.

Exchange Club Hears Keever

Describes Magnetic Springs Polio Center

Dr. Kenneth W. Keever of Richwood was guest speaker when the Exchange Club held its regular weekly meeting Friday at Hotel Harding.

Dr. Keever is working to start a polio treatment center at Magnetic Springs, an idea which he conceived while at Warm Springs, Ga., where his own daughter was undergoing treatment for the disease.

He explained that he is primarily interested in treating those cases where the upper extremities and body trunk are affected because it is these cases which leave the patient in the most helpless condition. He stated that the majority of deformities can be prevented if treatment is started immediately.

He expects to make this a complete rehabilitation center where a patient can be taught trades and enabled to take his place in society again.

He described a small house which he expects to furnish with adjustable furniture in order that an afflicted housewife can find which position best fits her particular needs. The husband will then be brought in to look it over with the possibility of making similar changes in the home.

Robert Allen, Richwood attorney in charge of the legal affairs of the institution, then spoke and described the financial needs of the group.

Allen said that Dr. Keever had given up a very lucrative practice in Richwood, spent one year in Philadelphia and two at Warm Springs to prepare himself for this project.

The original goal for the Foundation was $250,000. Of this amount, $100,000 has already been realized and another $100,000 has been pledged by various groups throughout the state.

The balance of the meeting was given over to discussion of the project.

L. Otis Porter, manager of the Marion Water Co. was a guest. Fred Schultz presided.

Drafted McCarthy Aide Silent About Coddling Charges

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Pvt. G. David Schine doesn't want to talk about allegations by some of his fellow soldiers that he got favored treatment during basic training at Ft. Dix, N. J.

The wealthy, 26-year-old former aide to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) has been at Camp Gordon since Saturday for training with a military police regiment.

Capt. Edgar M. Jones, public information officer at the Provost Marshal General Center, said yesterday that Schine had read newspaper accounts of the coddling charges but would not comment on them or pose for pictures.

Schine, member of a family that owns several hotels, was a staff consultant for McCarthy's permanent investigations subcommittee until the Army drafted him Nov. 3. He completed basic training at Ft. Dix Jan. 16.

Some of his fellow trainees at the New Jersey post said he loafed through his eight weeks training period there.

The Army will investigate the charges, a Ft. Dix spokesman said Friday.

Warden Is Often a Dog's Best Friend

Strays Are Picked Up and Returned to Owners Through His Help

By EVELYN KRISTOFF

'Friend of man s best friend" is how many persons would describe Marion County Dog Warden William Warner

These persons are among the estimated 30 000 people who have had occasion to ask and get Warner s help in the nine years he has served as county dog warden

Among them are those who know first-hand that Warner keeps a protective eye on the 'strayed stolen injured or lost' dogs every day of the year Also included in this group are those youngsters, and some oldsters, who account for the "adoption" of some 60 per cent of the homeless dogs which pass through the county dog pound

THESE PEOPLE would tell you that the 1954 variety of dog warden as exemplified by Warner is a far cry from the caricature - style 'dog catcher of earlier days often pictured as waiting for a chance to "snatch up an unwary pooch'

The dog warden job in Marion County is a working partnership between Warner and his wife In nine years, she has answered over 30 000 telephone calls concerning dogs

In addition to dispatching messages to her husband, Mrs Warner also keeps daily records of lost and found dogs

Since he does not have an office most calls for the warden are made at his residence at 279 Thew Ave As Warner goes about his daily tasks he periodically checks in with his residence to get a list of the latest calls requiring his attention If Mrs Warner receives a call which sounds as if it needs immediate attention she relays the message by telephone to the police radio dispatcher, who in turn dispatches the message to Warner in his two-way-radio-equipped car

DURING THE time Warner has been dog warden he estimates he has driven over 250 000 miles in answering these calls which cover not only the city of Marion but the entire county, including towns and villages

His is not an ordinary 8-to-5 job, Warner has found for calls are received after ordinary working hours, on holidays Sundays, and many after bedtime

In Warner's opinion, "There is nothing more pitiful than a lost dog who has strayed from his home perhaps never to return"

Yet such tragedies could most often be averted he claims if all dogs carried their registration number tags Owners are determined 'merely by checking with the county auditor s office where all dog tag numbers are recorded

Almost daily Warner gets calls from people who have seen a dog hit by a car If the dog is living and has a chance for recovery it is rushed to the Humane Society veterinarian by whom it is treated and then either returned to its master or its owner is notified

CONTRARY TO general opinion Warner does not pick up loose dogs if they are wearing valid tags except in cases where they have been reported lost or in cases of emergency quarantine

Mos people are by nature kind to animals, Warner believes but some people unintentionally add to a lost dog s confusion by throwing stones and tin cans at it and yelling at it

This only adds to the dog's bewilderment and makes it harder for the warden to catch it and try to find a home for it, Warner has found

He asks that residents call him whenever a lost dog appears and he will get there as soon as possible.

WHEN THE WARDEN finds a lost dog he places it in a specially-converted cage built onto his coupe, and takes it to the modern concrete-block county dog pound at the fairgrounds

This building built two years ago by the county, is approximately 20 by 30 feet in size, and has 22 individual dog cages and a gas chamber. Warner keeps lost and abandoned dogs about 10 days in the hope that they will either be claimed by their owners or adopted by new owners

Thd dog pound is open from 9 in the morning to 5 in the evening when residents may go to see if their dog may be there or where prospective owners may see a "made for each other' dog

Warner is at the pound at 9 and at 5 when he feeds the dogs

Of the approximately 2 000 dogs which pass through the pound each year Warner estimates nearly 60 per cent are taken out by new owners

VICIOUS DOGS and those too old or those painfully injured beyond a chance of being restored to health exit the easy way in the painless gas chamber he says

Many owners bring their old or diseased dogs to the pound to be destoyed. However, with experience being a good teacher Warner says he waits three days before sending one of these pets to the chamber He has learned that more than half of the owners tearfully come back in a day or so, with a change of mind and heart wanting their pets back They get them back and everyone concerned — owner, dog, and warden — are happy

Compute Age With Atomic Yardstick

Earth 4½ Billion Years Old, Solar Scientists Say

CHICAGO (AP)—Four scientists using an atomic yardstick to measure time have pushed the origin of the earth back to at leest 4½ billion years ago

This is the oldest date yet obtained by analyzing elements in the solar system.

However there is evidence that for some two billion years of its existence, the earth's surface was not solid as it is today, but was molten or in some other diffuse nonsolid state

Two Different Kinds

The studies were based on two slightly different kinds of lead found in meteorites—the small bodies which scientists say were formed in the same nuclear upheaval that produced the earth.

The lead once was uranium, a substance that loses its radioactivity at a known rate in a decaying process However, there are at least two kinds of isotopes in natural uranium, differing slightly in weight

The different rate at which the two kinds of isotopes lose their radioactivity is the key to the age-determining technique

The heaviest isotope, uranium 238, loses half its radioactivity in 4½ billion years, decaying into lead 206 Another uranium isotope U-235—the kind used in the A bomb—loses half its radioactivity in 710 million years, and decays into lead 207.

Compare Ratio

A comparison of the ratio of the two kinds of lead present reveals the age of the sample The higher the proportion of lead 206, the older the sample,

The study of the lead atoms was made on the University of Chicago s mass spectrometers by Claire Patterson and Harrison Brown, now of the California Institute of Technology; George Tilton, now of the Carnegie Institute of Washington, and Mark Inghram, associate professor of physics at the University of Chicago

The study, published in the University of Chicago reports, concended that the meteorite had existed in its present state for 4½ billion years

Montreal Slasher Continues Attacks

MONTREAL (AP)—Police today reported at least two new attacks during the weekend by Montreal's mysterious slasher But they renewed warnings against public hysteria

The slasher termed a sex deviate by medical authorities and a maniac by police is blamed for numerous stealthy razor attacks against women and girls during the last 10 days The police still don't know his identity

Officials credited the wanted man with attacks on a 23-year-old woman who suffered a wound that required seven stitches to close Saturday and on an 18-year-old girl who was cut on the leg while riding on a bus yesterday

Subject of Debate

Economic Plans Aimed At Stimulating Business

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The President spelled out in his economic report more of his plans to shore up business should the present slide show signs of turning into an avalanche.

You'll be hearing the adequacy of the plans debated in the weeks to come.

They are aimed primarily at stimulating business, because jobs stem from business.

For the present that is considered enough, because many industrial executives are so sure that business now has the vitality and the ability to roll with the punches.

Already industry has been given easier credit and money conditions, and some tax relief. Congress is considering more tax concessions, aimed frankly at making it attractive for industry to spend for new plants and equipment, and to take business risks.

If these tax reforms should fail to create the jobs and the good times which the administration thinks they will, and the recession gets rolling in earnest, two measures could be taken to increase purchasing power, and thus tackle the problem from the other angle.

One would be further cuts in individual income taxes and in excise taxes. This would give people more left-over income they could spend.

The other that the President has already set forth in the State of the Union message is a public works program in readiness to offer jobs and give industry outlets for its production.

But the first line of defense is the stimulation of business initiative and incentive. The majority of businessmen will likely applaud this wholeheartedly. The suggested tax reforms would remove some of the milestones which business contends hang around its neck.

The minority criticism which you may be hearing in the days ahead will come from two schools.

The first is the one that holds the government shouldn't coddle business or any other segment of the public, just because someone would get hurt in a recession.

It argues the government should not be expected to guarantee that no one loses any marbles when he plays for keeps. Such tinkering by government, it is contended, does more harm in the end than good.

The second school doubts if the measures the President proposes still have their old-time power to induce mild inflation or to counter deflation.

Both schools, in short, feel that in the long run the economy will pretty much have to work out its own salvation.

Comic Books Take Mind Off Denver Dental Chair

DENVER (AP)—The Denver Dental Assn., prying and probing the molars of some 400 orphans, tried a new means today of making the experience less painful to the kids: comic books.

Prepared by the American Dental Assn., the comics relate the adventures of Daredevil Davey in trapping such evil characters as "Sugar Sweets," "Punk Diet," "Lazy Brusher" and "Hap Hazard."

SENTENCED. Poncet Davis, 56-year-old Akron industrialist, was ordered to pay a fine of $40,000 for income tax evasion of $738,000 from 1945 through 1948.

Girl Admits Series Of Bucyrus Thefts

BUCYRUS — An 11-year-old Bucyrus girl has admitted a series of thefts from stores and cars during the past three months, Police Chief Arthur L. Stuckert disclosed Saturday. Chief Stuckert said the girl was apprehended through her tracks in the snow, which led from the scene of one of the thefts to the girl's home.

The girl has admitted ransacking numerous parked cars and entering garages in the residental district and removing articles from automobiles. She also told police she hid in Foulk's Drug Store in downtown Bucyrus earlier last week at closing time and took $6 out of the cash register after the store was locked up and the employes had gone home. She said she broke out of the store by smashing a glass in a rear door, Chief Stuckert reported.

Disposition of the case has been turned over to Crawford County Juvenile Court authorities.

3 California Youngsters Feared Lost Are Safe

ALTADENA, Calif. (AP)—Three youngsters, missing all night on a mountain hike, found their way home and said they weren't lost at all.

They reached the sheriff's substation here yesterday, tired but otherwise in good shape. A searching party had been organized Saturday night when they failed to return on time.

Edward Gregory, 14, told deputies: "We weren't lost. We just started to hike up there when it got dark. So we spent the night."

With him were his sister Marilyn, 12, and a neighbor girl, Camella Merwin, 12.

PUCO Hearing On Phone Rate Hike Recessed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Mount Vernon Telephone Corp. plans this week to bolster its request for an $164,000 a year rate increase with expert testimony on how well the company is doing its job.

The state utilities commission is hearing the company's application for an increase. The hearing was recessed until Wednesday after the company ran out of witnesses Friday afternoon and opponents to the proposed increase said they were not ready to cross-examine.

The company's president and general manager, George B. Quatman, was on the stand all of Friday afternoon. He testified the company has not paid a dividend on its $300,000 in common stock since 1946, but invested its earnings in expansions and improvements.

Commission Chairman Robert L. Moulton asked Quatman if the proposed increase would enable the company to meet all operating expenses and pay an 8 per cent dividend on its common stock. Quatman said he had not figured that out.

Quatman said the company's financial picture has not changed substantially since Dec. 31, 1952, when it had $814,500 in first mortgage bonds, $505,700 in preferred stock held by 300 persons, $300,000 in common stock held by one holding company, $197,000 in surplus invested in its plant and $125,000 in short term indebtedness.

CITIZEN CLUB GROUPS

Two new groups were organized recently by the Citizens Club, it was announced today. Group Three is made up of girls and Group Four is a boys' organization. Officers elected by the girls' group are: Janice Ottman, president; Carolyn Smith, vice president; Diane Lagos, secretary and Judy Mitton, treasurer. A five-month program has been outlined by the Citizens Club. Officers will be elected Feb. 15.

Sharp Quake Felt

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A sharp earthquake jarred the Imperial Valley of southern California last night, but no damage was reported.

Calexico residents said the shock was felt at 8:25 p.m. At El Centro, also in the Imperial Valley, two shocks were felt, one at 8.25 and another 10 minutes later. Dishes were rattled. Other valley points reported tremors, as did some residents in San Diego.

A Symbol of FRIENDSHIP

In the olden days, a knight opened his visor only in the presence of friends. The open visor of the knight in the Symbol of the Order of the Golden Rule is a token of friendliness — the friendliness which is such an important attribute of our service, and the service of all who are affiliated with the Order.

THE ORDER OF THE GOLDEN RULE Celebrates Its 25th Anniversary

The knight himself is an emblem of chivalry; his drawn sword is a token of his readiness to defend the purposes and the principles of the Order. Most important of all, however, is the motto graven upon the knight's shield: "Service Measured Not by GOLD, but by the GOLDEN RULE".

To that great basic concept of service we rededicate ourselves as we start, at this time, another year as the member of the Order of the Golden Rule in this community. To serve others as we ourselves would wish to be served is a pledge we have made, and shall keep.

AFL Chiefs Meet In Miami Beach for Policy Conference

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Top AFL leaders assembled today for a beachfront pow-wow on policies of the Eisenhower administration and on plans to curb union rivalry.

The 17-man AFL Executive Council, which guides policies of the 10-million member labor organization, was expected to open its sessions with a study of the nation's economic situation and the growing number of unemployed.

Leaders said that they are worried that increasing job layoffs in factories may spread to construction and other industries in which the AFL has its heaviest membership.

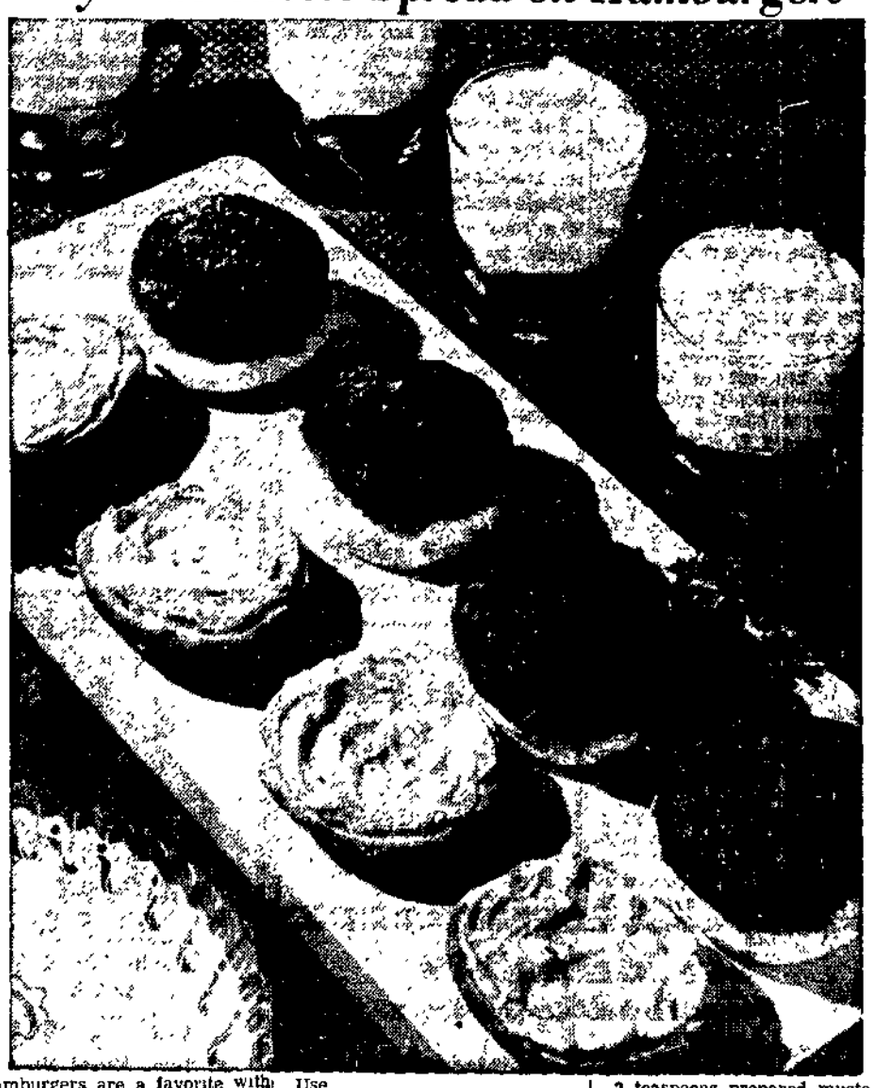
AFL President George Meany has been sharply critical for weeks of many administration policies and an AFL spokesman said Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell has arranged to come here from Washington Friday for a conference with the AFL chiefs

Mitchell's visit apparently is intended to try to repair strained AFL relations with the administration.

LIMA FIREMAN DIES

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—Capt. Cloyd R Webb, 44, a veteran of 14 years with the Lima fire department, died yesterday after being overcome by smoke fighting a blaze in a three-story building here. He was pulled out of the flaming building while his son, Alfred, 22, a rookie fireman, was helping combat the fire. He died shortly after reaching Memorial Hospital. About a dozen persons escaped uninjured from the building. Damage was estimated at $125,000.

Try Blue Cheese Spread on Hamburgers



Hamburgers are a favorite with almost everyone. They are especially tempting with a blue cheese spread. Easy to make, the cheese adds that special touch.

They're just right to serve after a skating party or for that late snack when entertaining frends.

Use
1 pound hamburg
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons soft margarine
5 split toasted buns
blue cheese spread

Mix hamburg, salt and pepper. Work in margarine, blending well. Shape into patties. Pan - broil them in a hot heavy skillet (ungreased). Serve between buns, spread with blue cheese spread.

To make blue cheese spread use
½ bar (¼ cup) margarine
⅛ pound (1-3 cup) blue cheese, put through sieve
½ teaspoon onion juice
2 teaspoons prepared mustard

Let margarine soften in mixing bowl, then cream thoroughly with mixing spoon. Add blue cheese, onion juice, and mustard and mix well. Let stand at least 1 hour for flavor to develop. Yield: about ½ cup.

Italian Reds Open Campaign Against U.S. Ambassador

ROME (AP)—Communists opened fire on U S Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce with posters today as President Luigi Einaudi began another weary search for a premier.

About the same time, Italian police tore down posters assailing the American envoy and accusing her of meddling in Italian politics The posters carried an unflattering picture of Mrs Luce They charged she had conferred with center political leaders during the recent—and now continuing — political crisis.

Communist Leader Palmiro Togliatti assailed Mrs Luce in the Chamber of Deputies last week A planned Communists campaign against the American representative seemed behind the developments

Marion Bid for Second Place Stalled; Mohawks Win

Barons' Gordon Vejprava Benched by Injured Knee

Marion's third-place Barons' six-game win streak was broken Saturday night by the pace setting Cincinnati Mohawks 4-3 before a crowd of 5,393 fans at the Cincinnati Gardens.

It was a close game all the way with the score tied on three occasions before Connie Broden fired home the winning goal at 14:37 of the final period.

The game was marred by a second-period injury to Marion's scoring ace, Gordon Vejprava. He was stopped by a knee injury and was forced to miss the rest of the game. Spokesmen for the Barons said this morning extent of the injury had not been determined. The injury may develop into a torn ligament.

A total of 16 penalties were called by Referee Hal Jackson. Nine of them were against Marion. On a few occasions, play threatened to get out of hand.

Kenny Biggs shoved the Hawks ahead when he scored at 3:48 of the first frame. Hal Jones shoved in the equalizer at the 8:40 mark.

Steve Briklacich, himself a former Cincinnati performer, sent the Barons ahead 2-1 at 13:39 of the econd period but Art Rose evened the count four minutes later.

Broden's first tally after 28 seconds of the final stanza put the Hawks ahead 3-2 but Kenny Schultz knotted the count at 3-3 with a shot from about eight feet out. It marked the 39th goal of the season for Schultz and preserved his scoring streak. He has notched a goal in each of his last six games.

That set the stage for Broden's game-winning tally. The score came at the 14:30 mark and was made on a high hard shot which hit the top of the net, bounced back against the shoulder of Marion's new goal tender, Floyd Perras, and then bounced into the net.

During the final minute of action, Coach Ott Heller lifted Perras in favor of another forward in an effort to add scoring punch to the Marion team. Heller took over the net tending and warded off the Cincinnati thrusts.

Perras was kept busy in his first start for the Barons but successfully knocked away 34 shots by Mohawk attackers. Cincinnati's Charley Hodge ended the game with 17 saves.

The Barons returned to Marion where today they started preparations for a meeting Wednesday night with the Toledo Mercurys.

The week end action left the Barons still in third place only one point behind Toledo. A win Wednesday night would shove the local club into the runner up spot.

Saxton, Laurent Battle Tonight In TV Feature

NEW YORK (AP)—Johnny Saxton makes his third start as a middleweight tonight at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway against Mickey Laurent of France.

The brilliant Brooklyn Negro has lost only two of 44 starts, bowing to Gil Turner and Del Flanagan in welter scraps. He has beaten Joey Giardello and Ralph (Tiger) Jones in the heavier division.

TV fans will see the 10-rounder in some sections of the country (Dumont).

George Araujo, away from the ring since his sorry losing performance against Teddy (Red Top) Davis in New York Oct. 30, starts back tonight in Boston against Curley Monroe of Worcester, Mass.

It is up to Araujo to rebuild his rep, damaged by his knockout defeat by Jimmy Carter last year.

Joey Giardello, the Philadelphia middle who is ranked No. 2 behind Bobo Olson in the latest ring ratings, takes on Walter Cartier again Friday night at Madison Square Garden (ABC-Radio and NBC-TV).

Al (Sugar) Wilson of Englewood, N. J., steps in as a sub for Paddy Young Saturday (ABC-TV) against Maurice Harper of Oakland at Sacramento, Calif. Wilson can be a troublesome opponent for Harper, unbeaten in the last two years.

Moses Ward, a Detroit youngster, moves up into the big leagues Wednesday (CBS-TV) when he boxes Willie Troy of Washington, No. 7 in the middleweight division, at Detroit's Olympia.

Frick Supports Minors, Backs TV Restrictions

NEW YORK (AP)—Commissioner Ford Frick again has gone to bat for the minor leagues in their fight to curtail radio and television broadcasts of major league games in the minors' cities.

In an address last night which sounded the keynote for the 31st annual dinner of the New York chapter of he Baseball Writers' Assn., Frick told some 1,500 guests, "the major league clubs themselves can solve this problem if they will. For each club individually has the right and power to make restrictions in their own contracts, even though they are not permitted to make them in mutual agreement."

Last week, Frick arranged for a special joint meeting of both major leagues at which minor league President George Trautman pointed out that 22 minor leagues, involving 122 cities, have folded since the 1949 high of 59 leagues. He blamed much of the major-minor attendance decline of 26,000,000 in the last five years to big league broadcasts in the minors' territories.

Frick's speech followed awards to Brooklyn Catcher Roy Campanella as "Player of the year," and to Paul Krichell, New York Yankee scout, for "long and meritorious service" to baseball.

Trinity Baptist Takes Lead in Y Church Loop

Trinity Baptist moved into first place in the YMCA Church League Saturday night by defeating Wesley Methodist 53-49. With one week to go in the first round schedule the Trinity five has only Church of the Brethren to get by to secure the first round championship.

The game played before a full house on the Y's south gym was a tight one from start to finish. Wesley moved to an 11-8 first period lead but Trinity came back in the second period to take a 22-20 lead at half time. In the remaining two periods the score changed hands four times as Wesley re-captured the lead 36-35 to enter the final eight minutes of play. Trinity again spurted to a four-point lead midway in the fial stanza and protected it to the finish. Dick Underwood paced Trinity with 19 points while Lon Earl had 21 for Wesley.

In other games played, Calvary Evangelical rolled to a 52-41 victory over Rural Salem and Epworth dropped the Brethren 63-42. Calvary rolled to a 10-point lead over Salem after the first eight minutes of play but lost the edge as Salem came back strong in the second period to leave the floor at half time trailing 25-22. Calvary regained its scoring punch in the third period and moved to a 42-31 margin to coast to the victory. Bud England and Bob Reiff shared scoring honors with 12 points each for Calvary while Salem's Price also netted 12.

Epworth's 23-8 first - quarter splurge over the Brethren was too much to overcome as the Methodists' rolled to a 63-42 win. Dick Jones' 15 points led the Epworth charge while Robbie Miller heaved in 17 to spark the Brethren.

LEAHY RESIGNS. This was the hang-dog expression on the face of Notre Dame football coach Frank Leahy as his team was behind in a game last season with University of Iowa. The game ended in a tie, 14-14. The Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, C.S.C., president of the University of Notre Dame, announced the resignation of Leahy "for reasons of health." Leahy said in a prepared statement he had submitted his resignation because "the doctors advised me, after my experiences between the halves of the Georgia Tech game, to give up coaching." Leahy suffered an internal seizure in the Irish dressing room during half time of that game Oct. 24 and was hospitalized.

Health Ends Career

Leahy Stuns Gridiron Scene, Resigns Irish Coaching Post

By TOM BRANAGAN

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Frank Leahy resigned as football coach at Notre Dame yesterday in a move so startling that it stunned even his assistants—from whose ranks a successor likely will be chosen.

Leahy, 45, announced he was stepping out because of his health. He feared the "possibly fatal" consequences of another attack of pancreatitis, a stomach disorder that put him in bed in the middle of last season.

His exit followed an 11-season career second only to Knute Rockne's in success.

Backfield Coach Johnny Lujack, one of those mentioned as a possible successor, said, "I just can't believe it. I was convinced Frank would never leave Notre Dame."

Lujack knew nothing of the decision until advised by reporters at his Chicago home. Leahy himself indicated he had talked the matter over with only one Notre Dame official—the Rev. Theodore Hesburgh, president of the Catholic university. "I haven't even talked to (Athletic Director) Ed Krause," said Leahy.

It was Leahy who actually was responsible for the surprise surrounding the announcement. As late as last week, he had laughed off queries about his future at Notre Dame. Many times he had said he wanted to stay at Notre Dame "as long as they want me."

But apparently doctors convinced him coaching was becoming too much of a strain. He said he now is considering three or four business opportunities.

Meantime, speculation began immediately on his successor, and names were falling on the Notre Dame campus like raindrops.

There was no official word on this angle from any Notre Dame official. Neither Father Hesburgh, Krause nor Leahy would name even a possibility.

However, insiders thought the choice would be confined to a Notre Dame man—a tradition at the South Bend school—and very likely would be one of Leahy's seven assistants.

Leahy gave the only hint of a possible course in an interview in Chicago, saying any one of his aides "is capable of taking over."

His assistants are Bob McBride, Terry Brennan, Lujack, Bill Early, Joe McArdle, Walt Ziemba and Johnny Druze. All except McArdle and Druze are former Notre Dame stars. These two were picked up by Leahy from Fordham, where he served as line coach in the '30s.

Also given prominent mention were two Notre Dame grads now head-coaching at other schools—Hugh Devore, recently signed by Dayton University, and Bernie Crimmins, a former Leahy assistant who has three more years to go on a contract with Indiana University.

Crimmins has said repeatedly he wants to remain at Indiana. He last made the statement after a recent interview with Texas A&M athletic heads, who were interested in him. However, it is known that he has a gentleman's agreement with Indiana that he may return to his alma mater if and when called.

Of the Irish staff, Terry Brennan and Bob McBride are known to have impressed Leahy greatly. Brennan at 25 is the youngest of the lot. Before joining Leahy last season, he made history in Chicago by coaching Mt. Carmel High School to three straight undefeated seasons and city championships.

McBride, 30, and Brennan played on Leahy's 1948 national championship team.

Leahy's resignation ended another fabulous era for Notre Dame football. Since assuming the coaching posnion in 1941, he has compiled a record of 87 wins, 11 losses and 9 ties. Six of his teams were undefeated and four of them were national champions.

Only Knute Rockne, the man whose genius brought Notre Dame its national following, did better. Rockne, who coached Leahy in the late '20s, won 105 games, lost 12 and tied 3 from 1918 until his death in an airplane crash in 1931.

After Hunk Anderson and Elmer Layden successively coached the Irish through the '30s, Leahy showed up with an impressive two-year coaching record at Boston College behind him. His Boston teams won 20 games and lost only two. He previously was line coach at Georgetown, Michigan State and Fordham.

Leahy, a personable, handsome man, collapsed between halves of last season's game with Georgia Tech. At first the attack was thought to be a heart seizure and he was given the last rites of the Roman Catholic Church. Leahy said later he was convinced he was dying.

However, it developed that he was suffering from pancreatitus. He was forced to miss two subsequent Nore Dame games.

TIRED GREYHOUND

PARIS, Texas, (AP)—Hunter Richey's old greyhound, Buster, has quit chasing jackrabbits. His feet are killing him. That's because the jackrabbits have learned to stay on the paved highway where the running is easier. Buster's almost worn the pads off his feet chasing them.

WHAT'S IN A HORSE'S NAME?

MIAMI (AP)—Saragossa is the name of a young colt now at Hialeah. The horse's monicker was selected by Mrs. Dodge Sloane, mistress if Brookmeade Stable The sire, Goya, was named for the famed Spanish painter who studied in the town of Saragossa.

Attack During Tech Struggle Hurried Move

CHICAGO (AP)—"When I collapsed during the Georgia Tech game, I vowed I never would coach football again"

That was Frank Leahy talking in his plush hotel suite a few hours after his resignation as Notre Dame's head football coach was announced last night.

"That afternoon of Oct. 24, I thought I was dying," Leahy said as phones jangled wildly and photographers tapped inquiringly on a door with a gleaming plate bearing the inscription "Perry Como."

The scene was the Ambassador East Hotel, and with the 45-year-old Leahy as he relaxed probably for the first time in 11 Notre Dame coaching seasons was his attractive wife, Florence, mother of his eight children.

"Yes, I was ready to quit after that attack between halves of the Georgia Tech game," Leahy resumed. "You can't describe the thoughts of a man when he thinks he is going to die. I would have quit right then, except that I thought I owed Notre Dame and my staff some preparation for a coaching change."

Leahy said Notre Dame president, Father Theodore Hesburgh, had assured him that his seven-member staff of assistants would receive their next year's salary no matter if a new head coach made revisions.

Crowd Attends

YMCA Swimmers Beaten By Team From Columbus

The Marion YMCA swimming team dropped a pair of meets to the Columbus Swimming Club before an overflow crowd of 300 Saturday at the local pool. The senior team lost 40-35 while the local juniors were outclassed 29-18.

John Dean of Marion gave the home crowd its biggest thrill by coming from behind to win the 75-yard individual medley event in the time of 1 min. 1 sec. Marion's second win was taken by the 200-yard free style relay team of Fred Jones, Gene Pelizonni, Larry Davis, and Jimmy Jones. The locals again showed overall team strength with six seconds and five thirds. Outstanding for the Columbus team were Pat Patton with wins in the 50 and 100 yard crawl sprints and Don Harrison in the 200 free style and diving.

For the junior meet, John Sylvester and Tom Soriero were double winners for the visitor as the locals failed to win an event. All times posted were recorded as pool records since the meets were the first official competition in the new YMCA pool. On Feb. 12 the Y will host the Lima Y at 7 p.m. and then travel to Springfield for a meet Feb. 13.

Dykes Predicts Higher Placing For Baltimore

NEW YORK (AP)—Jimmy Dykes took a look at the Baltimore situation today, inhaled on his always-present cigar and predicted, "We're gonna move up there."

The affable manager of the newest American League entry claims he's inherited a "good" club from the St. Louis Browns, one which will improve partly because of fan support.

"These players didn't want to put out when they were the Browns," he said. "Every time a guy struck out or popped up they were booed all the way to the dugout by the few fans who were there.

"Now they'll have an incentive. Look what happened in Milwaukee. They finished in second place and fooled a lot of people. We're gonna surprise some too.

According to Dykes, the Oriole players are just as enthusiastic as he is.

"I've talked with Vic Wertz, Bobby Young, Johnny Groth, Dick Kryhoski and a few others and they're all rarin' to go. They're gonna hustle for me and for the fans."

The Browns finished in the cellar last season, 46½ games behind the league-leading New York Yankees. But even that doesn't temper Dykes' optimism. Except for the pitching, the club is set, he said.

"We could use another pitcher or two. We have a good nucleus with Bob Turley and Don Larsen. Dick Littlefield has the makings. I'm going to get (Coach) Harry Brechen to work on him. I also expect Joe Coleman and Frank Fanovich, both of whom I had in Philadelphia, to help us.

2 Ohio Quintets Preparing for Southern Trips

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Dayton and Xavier University basketeers head into the Sunny Southland this week on those "big trips" of which college cagers dream.

The Xavier Musketeers meet Murray State in Oklahoma tonight, Centenary in Louisiana tomorrow, Loyola in New Orleans Thursday, and Mississippi Southern in Hattiesburg, Saturday.

The Dayton Flyers clash with Loyola in New Orleans tomorrow, Memphis State in Tennessee Thursday, jump to Chicago to meet that city's Loyola Saturday, and come home to play Loyola of New Orleans Sunday.

Of this week's 53 games involving the state's colleges, 21 are booked in 11 other states. Six states and Mexico send teams into Ohio for 10 games—giving the Buckeye boys their biggest and most far-flung interstate week of the campaign.

On the home front are 10 games in the Ohio Conference, now led by Marietta with a 5-0 record; 5 in the Mid-American loop, paced by Toledo with 5-1, and 4 in the Mid-Ohio League where Findlay is the pace-setter with 5-0.

Rio Grande, with Bevo Francis' country-leading average cut to 46.3 after getting only 57 points in 2 games last week, plays only once this week. The Redmen meet Hillsdale, Mich., at Jackson, Ohio, and are expected to repeat their 82-45 triumph scored on the Wolverine floor as "Bevo" racked up 43 points.

The Ohio squads, in last week's program curtailed because of semester exams, won 12 of 16 games against out-of-state opponents and moved out front in that division with 101 victories against 94 losses. The Bucks lead in scoring by 14,819 to 14,412.

Sycamore Defeats Forest for No. 20

SYCAMORE — Sycamore High School's undefeated cage quintet raced to its 20th win of the season here Saturday night, belting Forest, 99-61.

The visitors kept in the game throughout the first period and then dropped steadily behind. Sycamore held an 18-16 edge at that point but had increased the margin to 43-26 at the half and 72-48 at the start of the final period.

Six members of the local squad hit for double figure scoring. Vaughn Shell led the way with 24 points. Dan Bogard added 22, Leon Shell had 19, George Noggle and Martin Weaver each netted 12 and Don Hannum hit for 10. Cramer was Forest's big gun with 14.

UNCERTAIN COACH

WAKE FOREST, N.C. (AP)—Bones McKinney, assistant basketball coach at Wake Forest College, refuses to travel by airplane if he can get to his destination any other way. During his career as a pro basketball player, McKinney traveled thousands of miles but never on a plane. After the Wake Forest squad competed in the 1953 Steel Bowl tournament at Pittsburgh they had to catch a plane to make a fast trip to Lexington Ky., for a game with the University of Kentucky. At Charleston, W. Va., the plane landed to refuel, and in the descent the craft was bounced around. After McKinney had alighted, one player asked him: "We're you scared, coach?" "Let's not put it that way," he replied. "Let's just say life seemed to be a little uncertain."

OSU Team Escapes Cellar in Big Ten

CHICAGO (AP)—Indiana's Hoosiers return to action tonight after a two-week layoff, taking on Louisville on the Hoosier court as a prelude to re-entry into the Big Ten basketball campaign.

Indiana, like several other conference schools, has been idle because of semester examinations.

Tonight's program includes only one Big Ten game—and that of little importance in standings. Ninth-place Northwestern plays at seventh-place Michigan State.

Minnesota won its fourth game in five Big Ten appearances Saturday, defeating Michigan State 79-71 as Dick Garmaker scored 24 points. The victory kept the Gophers in third place behind Indiana and idle Iowa (6-1).

In the only other Big Ten game, Ohio State beat Purdue 77-73, to hop out of a cellar tie. Paul Ebert and Robin Freeman led the victory with 22 points apiece.

Unbeaten Cage Squads Ready For Last Half

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP)—With the campaign just about half over, the list of unbeaten college basketball teams was down to five today and by the time tonight's action is over another of the clubs with unsullied records could topple.

Western Kentucky, winner of 19 games—the highest total among the unbeaten teams—faces Bowling Green, a tough customer in any league. If Bowling Green can't handle the assignment, Stetson and Eastern Kentucky will get pot shots at Ed Diddle's boys later in the week.

If the Hilltoppers get past this week, they should go through the remainder of the season without a smirch on their record.

Kentucky, the No. 1 team in the weekly Associated Press poll of sports writers and sportscasters, has three games on tap for the week's action, but no one would dare predict that either Georgia Tech (winless) or Georgia will offer any more than token resistance. The Wildcats have a skein of 13 victories.

Duquesne, which has been fighting the Wildcats for the top spot—and which certainly is the best the East has to offer—figures to make Villanova victim No. 18 tonight. Connecticut, the other major unbeaten, will face a stiff test Wednesday night when it goes up against Fordham, the class of the New York schools with a 12-2 record. The Nutmeggers have won 14.

The only other unbeaten is little Norwich, which boasts 12 triumphs. Erskine, another little fellow among the big powers, dropped a 102-85 decision to Belmont Abbey Saturday night and thus fell from the group of undefeateds.

Unless they cover the basket or make him shoot blindfolded, fabulous Frank Selvy of Furman should break the three-year scoring record of 1,888 points held by Kansas' Clyde Lovellette when his crew tackles Clemson tonight. Lovellette set the mark two years ago.

Selvy warmed up to the task Saturday night by dropping 53 points through the hoop as Furman vanquished the Citadel, 114-72. He now has 1,879 with 14 games still to go.

Seattle owns the longest winning streak in the country after whipping Portland last night for No. 20. Seattle plays two games this week—tomorrow against Pacific Lutheran and Saturday against Gonzaga. The Chieftains have beaten both earlier in the season, so they don't figure to have any trouble.

The conferences, meanwhile, are getting into the important stage with the winners promised NCAA playoff berths.

Here is a rundown on how they stand:

Big Ten — Indiana still on top with 6-0, but Iowa and Minnesota are close behind with 6-1 and 5-1, respectively. Minnesota plays Indiana in the big one a week from tonight.

Southeastern — Louisiana State, believe it or not, shows a 5-0 mark to Kentucky's 4-0. Tulane has a 4-1 record. The Wildcats don't meet either of them during the regular season.

Pacific Coast — California still leads the Southern Division with 4-0 and Oregon State heads the North with 6-2.

Atlantic Coast—Maryland shows 6-1 to top the league, followed by North Carolina with 4-1 and Duke with 3-1. The Blue Devils, who beat Navy 82-65 Saturday for the Middies' first home defeat in 27 games, bear watching.

Ivy League—Cornell still rates as the favorite with a 5-0 record.

Southern—George Washington, 7-0, leads, but Furman is 3-0 and who would have the nerve to bet against Selvy?

Big Seven—Kansas, the favorite, and Nebraska each have 4-0 after having spent the week at midyear exams.

Missouri Valley—Oklahoma A&M, which shows 3-0—and an over-all mark of 17-1—must get by Wichita (5-1) Thursday. This is a home-and-home series, so the title probably will be decided on the results of the two games.

Southwest—Texas is riding high with 4-0.

Skyline—Colorado A&M and Wyoming are tied, each with 6-1. They both were defeated by Utah State, incidentally, last week.

In Saturday's big games, Kentucky trounced Vanderbilt 85-63; Duquesne had a rough time of it before edging St. Bonaventure 52-41; and Minnesota defeated Michigan State 79-71.

A LIFE'S SAVINGS

DeLAND, Fla. (UP)—Miss Lottie Dorsey, a teller at the Florida Bank of DeLand, said an aged Negro appeared in the bank recently hauling a battered old truck which he said held his life savings. Miss Dorsey took one look in the trunk and called in her sister to help count the pile of change. The final tally was $1,612.50, including 7,650 pennies. When it was counted and deposited, the old man smiled and said, "Now I can sleep nights without worrying."

During the 1953 season the Cincinnati Redlegs played 77 road games and hit 77 home runs in opposition ball parks.

Haas Captures Title, Finishes 20 Under Par

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP)—The golfing troupe headed east for the Phoenix, Ariz., Open Golf Tournament today, and leading the charge was Freddie Haas Jr., of New Orleans, celebrating his first major victory since 1950.

The 38-year-old Haas captured the colorful $15,000 Thunderbird Invitational Tournament yesterday with a remarkable 20-under par score of 268 for 72 holes.

Experience gained in years in the game brought Haas in with a 69 for the par 72 Thunderbird Country Club course, but the finishing punch to the rest of the field was a 10-foot putt for an eagle 3 on the 18th green.

It was executed in Freddie's peculiar, unorthodox, cross-handed putting style. It iced the first prize of $2,000.

Bo Winniger of Oklahoma City, the co-leader with Haas going into the final round, wound up in a tie behind Haas with Marty Furgol and Chandler Harper, worth $833.33 apiece.

Johnny Palmer of Charlotte, N. C., and Doug Ford of New York, each with 68's, tied at 271 for $550 apiece.

And next in line was Ben Hogan, the great one, playing in his first tournament since he won the British Open last summer. Ben had sub par rounds of 65-70-69-68—272.

Job Layoffs Slackening, Labor Department Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department made public today figures indicating unemployment may have reached or exceeded 2½ million, although the rate of job layoffs has slackened.

The Census Bureau reported yesterday that unemployment reached 2,360,000 for the week ending Jan. 9, or an increase of 510,000 over the preceding month.

87,888 Increase

However, the Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security reported that the number of jobless claiming unemployment compensation benefits was 2,038,827 on Jan. 16, an increase of 87,888 over Jan. 9.

Since only 36 million out of the nation's nearly 60 million employed persons are covered by the unemployment compensation program, economists speculate the jobless total probably has climbed to 2½ million or higher

The figures today showed there were 410,600 initial claims for unemployment compensation benefits for the week ended Jan 23 Not all of these can be considered as unemployed, since some normally get other jobs in a few days.

These 410,600 initial claims for jobless benefits indicated a continuing heavy number of workers losing their jobs. But the figure compared with 444,800 initial claims for the week ended Jan. 16 with 468,787 Jan. 9, and 413,300 Jan. 2.

Appears Slackening

Thus, the rate of new unemployment has slacked a bit now for two straight weeks.

This encouraged government officials who have been closely following the unemployment data Normally there is an employment slack in the wintertime reaching a peak in early January after holiday trade eases off.

Usually there is some improvement in the latter weeks of January and the experts feel the reduced unemployment rate is a hopeful sign that some employment recovery may be on the way.

Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) said census figures do not reflect "real unemployment" because they do not count workers temporarily laid off. The census figure on unemployment omits those told to return within 30 days.

The new report, he said in an interview, shows that 275,000 workers were temporarily laid off. Many of these, Douglas contended, will be unemployed for several weeks or even months But they are now counted, he said, as part of the employed workers total.

HE'S BEEN HIGHER. Probably a little height like the top of the Empire State building in New York is virtually nothing (or is it?) to Sir Edmund Hillary, conqueror of Mount Everest, as he points out various sights to his wife. They are on a lecture tour.

WOMEN BEST SHOE BUYERS

NEW YORK (UP)—It took 221,000,000 pairs of shoes to outfit women in 1953. The total represents nearly 50 per cent of all shoes purchased, the Leather Industries of America reports. The rest were purchased for the men and the children.

Galion Mothers' March Adds $2,167 to Fund

GALION — The Mothers' March in Galion last Thursday night netted $2,167 for the March of Dimes, it was announced following the hour-long collection.

It is believed that Galion will collect around $7,000 since the campaign now has gone over the $6,000 goal after Thursday night's march by the mothers.

From clubs, organizations, retail merchants, schools, industries and special gifts, the amount of $3 900 had been collected prior to Thursday night's collection.

Ash Stover, chairman of the polio drive in Galion, announced that the final tally will not be completed for several days until all sources have been reported.

Coffee Held From Market, Probers Hear

WASHINGTON (AP) — A banker's explanation why coffee prices are shooting skyward is that Latin American nations are holding back supplies from the American market.

That opinion was expressed by Chester Dewey, president of the Grace National Bank of New York Dewey's bank does considerable business with Latin America

Dewey told the Senate Banking Committee Friday that the sharp price increases cannot be traced to speculation on the New York market. The committee has authorized a subcommittee to probe coffee prices

The New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange wired the Federal Trade Commission, saying it welcomes that agency's probe of coffee price rises Gustavo Lobo Jr, exchange president, said the trading center "by its own rules cannot and does not influence prices in any way"

Dewey told the banking committee:

"We taught the Latin Americans how to raise prices and they are very apt pupils Once they learned how to do it, they supplied a little less coffee to the market every week. When the roasters are virtually down to their last canister they have to buy—at a little higher price"

Dewey said frosts have been a factor in reducing coffee supplies Brazilian officials have placed great stress on relationship of crop-killing frosts to the price boosts.

The New Yorker indicated that a determined boycott by coffee drinkers might bring results

"That's what worries the Latin Americans more than anything else," he said.

Panoply Without Heart

Maurice Evans' stage performance of William Shakes- "Richard II" in 1937 was one of the most memorable theatrical experiences of our time. Hardly ever in the annals of the stage has an actor been so deluged with praise from the critics.

J. CROSBY

Richard Watts of The New York Herald Tribune called it "a masterpiece of distinguished acting . . . it stands high among the distinguished Shakespearean performances of this generation." Brooks Atkinson in The New York Times commented: "Maurice Evans deserves a sort of reverence for his triumphant performance. It is the genius of great acting." The other notices were similarly ecstatic, conceivably the finest set of notices any actor ever got.

I BRING IT ALL UP now because the same Maurice Evans again donned the elegant costumes of Richard II in a two-hour television version of the play last Sunday on NBC-TV. It should have been another triumph. It wasn't—and it's rather difficult to figure out why. I saw Evans' 1937 Richard and, if I had been a reviewer then, I would have echoed the wild plaudits of the critics.

But the Evans of today is not the Evans of 1937 at all. For one thing, he is 16 years older; much of the youth and the fire and the sheer shimmering beauty of the performance has been lost. The 1937 "Richard II" was his first big role in this country. He had earlier attracted quite a lot of attention playing the Dauphin in Katherine Cornell's "Saint Joan," but this was his first starring role. He gave the role not only all his artistry but all of his heart.

Today, the artistry remains; the heart, it seems to me, doesn't. The Evans "Richard II" of last Sunday was a cold exercise in technique and this, of all roles, cannot be carried by technique alone.

RICHARD, THE PLAYBOY king who bankrupted England, foolish, vain, arrogant, was anything but a sympathetic figure. Yet his downfall — on the stage, at least — is heart-rending. The TV version left me almost totally unmoved and I think this is because Evans never established himself as a human being; he was more a magnificently costumed vocal chord.

The Evans' voice is a superb instrument and some of Shakespeare's finest, most gem-like poetry poured forth from the Evans lips with great clarity and precision musical sonority. I could hear it; I just couldn't feel it.

"Richard II" was sponsored by the Hallmark Greeting Card Co. which shelled out $175,000 for the two-hour TV drama. (Inflationary note: Evans' 1937 stage version, which was magnificent, cost just under $25,000.) It was staged in the old Warner Brothers film studio in Brooklyn, an immense lot, and its 12 settings, one of them almost a whole castle wall, were probably the most ambitious bunks of scenery ever seen on television.

I HAPPEN TO LIKE Shakespearean splendor and opulence. Shakespeare was writing of English kings —the English reverence for their own throne is not even dimly understood in this country—and the grandeur and panoply of kinghood should be evident. If they are not, some of the outsize passions of kinghood, which in Shakespeare seem a lot larger than those of ordinary mortals, are dimmed. In this respect, the Hallmark production was just fine.

There were also, I thought, some very distinguished performances by Kent Smith as Bolingbroke, by Frederick Worlock as the aged John of Gaunt; by Sarah Churchill as King Richard's Queen. There was even some stirring acting in the smaller roles—by Bruce Gordon Thomas Mowbray and by Whitford Kane in a bit as a gardener.

While the cameras occasionally got a little too bemused with the scenery at the cost of the actors, George Schaefer's direction was in general excellent and a miracle of technical perfection.

N.Y. Stock Quotations

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market slipped a little lower today after starting out with a mild attempt at a rally.

Neither the original rise nor the subsequent decline was very pronounced. Prices spread out over a range of around a point lower to fractions higher.

Steels were consistently higher along with many railroads. Motors were lower, and they were joined by a number of coppers and chemicals. Otherwise the market was steady to mixed.

Among higher stocks were Bethlehem Steel, Boeing, American Telephone, American Tobacco, and Union Pacific.

Lower were Chrysler (at a new low), General Motors, Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, Phelps Dodge, DuPont, and Johns-Manville.

'Daddy' Goodspeed Dies; Was Caller For Old Interurban

George Elza Goodspeed, 95, died at 2 a.m. today in his home, 335 Holmes Pl. In failing health for the past several years he was bedfast one week.

A native of Athens County, where he was born March 29, 1859, he was the son of Charles and Nancy Coats Goodspeed, pioneers of that community. He came to Marion 41 years ago from Athens.

A familiar figure in Marion's business section in the 1920's and early 30's, he was known to his many friends and acquaintances as "Daddy" Goodspeed. In those years he was the interurban "train caller" with the old Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric Co., predecessor of the Ohio Edison Co. Possessing that rare gift of never meeting a stranger, he was the station's official greeter and very few passengers passed through the doors of the station without a word from "Dad." When there were no cars in the station he was busy with routine duties. Those who knew him remember him as a faithful and conscientious employe and friend.

He entered the employ of the traction company Feb. 7, 1920 when the station was located at 119 N. State St., and later was at the terminal station on W. Center St., now used by the Ohio Edison Co. as a Home Service Center. He retired March 1, 1932, slightly more than a year before the C. D. & M. was abandoned in August of 1933. Prior to that he was a watchman at the New York Central's N. State St. crossing. Ice skating was his major hobby and until recent years frequently joined the skaters at McKinley Park.

Mr. Goodspeed's marriage was to Miss Lydia Clark in 1903, at Athens. She survives with a daughter, Mrs. John Hagerty of 482 Silver St., and two sons, Harry Goodspeed of North East, Pa., and Charles Goodspeed, at home. Three grandchildren and two great-grandchildren also survive

Funeral services will be conducted at 1:30 p.m. Thursday at the M. H. Gunder Sons funeral home. Rev. Ashley Booth, pastor of Central Christian Church, will officiate and burial will be in the Marion Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home after 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Stammering Increases In Americans' Talking

BOSTON (UP)—Stammering is on the increase, a woman speech expert reports

Mrs Samuel D Robbins long associated with her husband in operating the Institute for Speech Correction here, says it s all a matter of nerves

"People stammer from fear, tension and prolonged emotional difficulties" she says 'So why wouldn t more do it now after two wars and a depression have left us all prey to anxieties?'

Stammering in men is five times as common as in women, according to Mrs Robbins

New Building Added to Hydraulic Press Co. Plant

Mt. Gilead Firm's Third Unit Constructed To Handle Fabrication

Completion of a new plant to help speed production and handle work formerly done by outside suppliers was announced today by the Hydraulic Press Mfg. Co. of Mt Gilead

John C Colner president, said the new plant is 'another move in our gradual expansion for greater, smoother production"

LAST YEAR the company seperated its hydraulic power division from the press division to facilitate more efficient operation

The new plant, capable of handling fabrication of steel plate up to one-half inch thick will speed production, lower costs, provide more job opportunities, and smooth work flow, he added.

Located adjacent to the New York Central Railroad in Edison the new plant contains a total of 22 000 square feet of floor space and houses large bending and cutting machines as well as numerous small machine tools Parts formerly torch cut and welded are now sheared, formed and punched

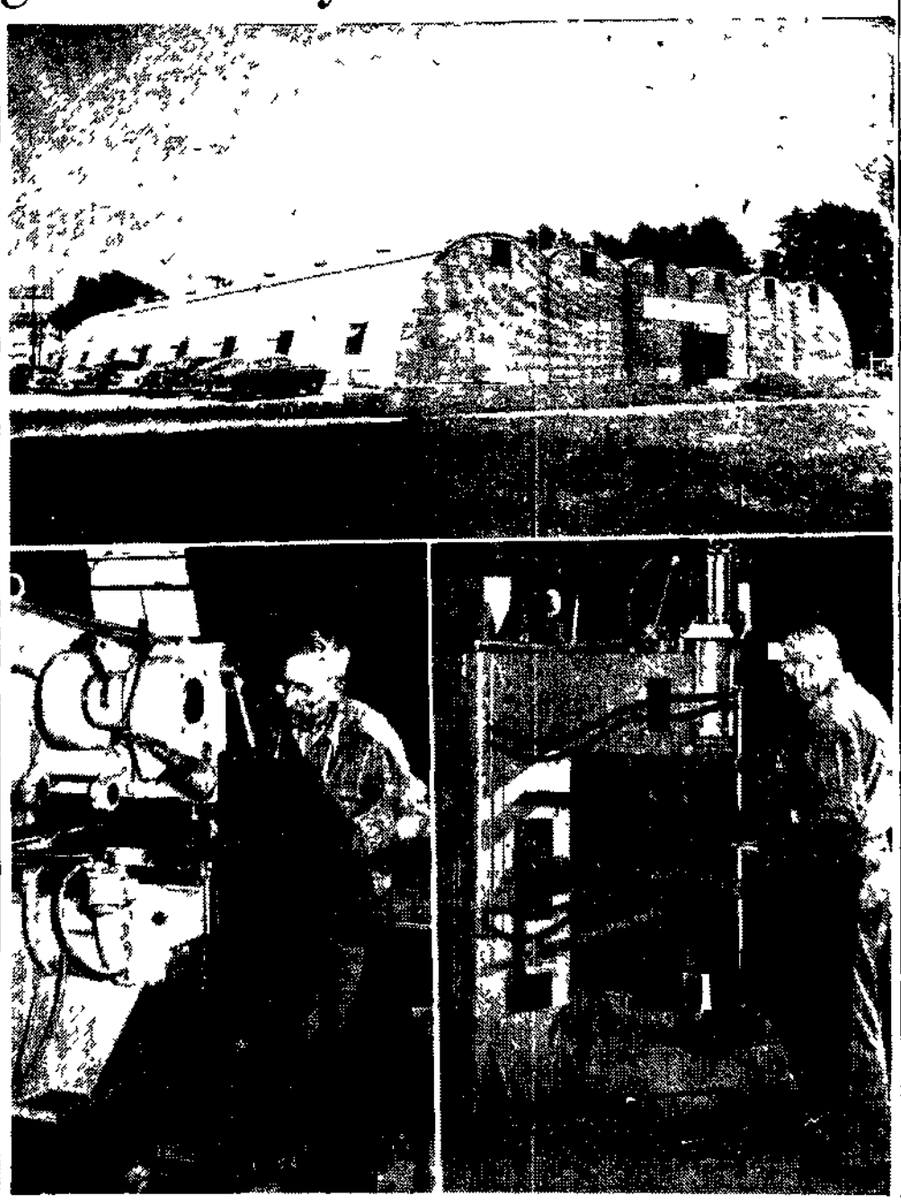
CHARLES W. EASTMAN, industrial engineer for the company said work at the new plant is on bases for all power units, plastic and die casting machine bases, material hoppers for plastic machines electrical panels, and all miscellaneous brackets and catwalks for presses.

The company's engineering department has also standardized electrical cabinets and panels to permit longer production runs This work also was formerly handled by outside suppliers and is now done in the new plant

The new equipment includes a new Cincinnati press brake, Cincinnati shears, welding and spot welding equipment, a "nibbler' which cuts quarter-inch metal something like a jigsaw cuts wood, various punching machines and an angle-shear-and-notch machine

Superintendent of the new plant is B M Gragg and John F Binkley is foreman.

British scientists think they have seen an American robin which somehow had crossed the Atlantic very possibly under its own power



PLANT 3 OF THE HYDRAULIC PRESS Mfg Co of Mt Gilead is shown here The new plant will handle work formerly done by outside suppliers and will speed production company officials say

UPPER Exterior of the new plant building located in Edison The plant is now in operation handling fabrication of steel plates one-half inch thick and under

LOWER LEFT J L Shumaker of near Martel operates a spot welder in the new plant

LOWER RIGHT. One of the new machines installed in the plant which is called a "nibbler" It cuts metal much in the same way a jigsaw cuts wood The operator is Shumaker.

Keeps Reform Commission Hopping

Herbert Hoover Setting Fast Pace at 79

WASHINGTON (AP) — When the White House called Herbert Hoover away from a fishing vacation last summer to draft him for a hard, exacting job, the former President is reliably reported to have voiced some feelings of unQuakerlike exasperation.

At 79, he thought he was entitled to a little rest.

With wry resignation he took the job, however—heading a commission on government reorganization to carry forward the revamping started by the old Hoover Commission of 1947-1949.

The commission held its first meeting with President Eisenhower Sept. 29. Four months later, its work is actively under way. And its once-reluctant chairman is directing that work at a pace which could tire a man 40 years younger.

"He almost never seems to rest," one of Hoover's associates said. "He spends three or four days a week in Washington, and even when he goes back to New York he's still on the job—at breakfast, at lunch, a dinner, in the evening, on weekends."

Hoover has taken on the job of personally picking experts for the eight task forces which have been set up to advise the commission on problems ranging from surplus property to the cost of laundering sheets in government hospitals.

"He's determined," says a staff member, "to get the best qualified expert in the country on every subject. Because of his wide range of contacts, and his power of persuasion, he usually gets his man too—people who normally wouldn't dream of 'going to work for the government.'"

A staff of 39 full-time employes, along with 140 part-time consultants, has been assembled. Most of the task forces already have started gathering data. The commission has until next Dec. 31 to file its preliminary report. Its complete findings are due five months later.

To all appearances, Hoover enjoys being back in work which has long been familiar to him and in which even those who criticize him on political grounds regard him as an expert. Staff members find him genial, often quick to lighten a technical discussion with a witticism or an illustrative anecdote. Their chief concern is that he is driving himself too hard for a man of his years, striving for a final accomplishment to crown his career in public service.

"He refuses to spare himself," remarks one friend, himself a man of advancing years, "because at 79 he knows he simply hasn't any time to spare."

Isaly Completes Consolidation Of 2 Branches

Consolidation of the Isaly Dairy Co of Marion and Isaly's, Inc., in Columbus has been completed, William R. Isaly, president of the firm, has announced.

The merger, announced previously here Dec. 11 at the time George C. Krohe of Marion was appointed manager and treasurer of the company, combines the Marion facilities with 14 Columbus stores which now will be owned and operated by the Marion firm.

Mr. Krohe, who will be in charge of the combined operation, was a retail sales supervisor for 22 years at Isaly Dairy Stores in Pittsburgh. He came to Marion in July 1952 as manager of retail sales.

Mr. Isaly also announced that all the Columbus stores will undergo improvements in a $100,000 remodeling program.

Welcome Wagon Starts Upper Tour This Week

UPPER SANDUSKY — Mrs. Sue Harmon, of this city, has been named as hostess for a Welcome Wagon service to be inaugurated in Upper Sandusky this week.

One of the first objectives of the service, sponsored by local merchants, is to help newcomers become acquainted with Upper Sandusky. The hostess will visit families moving into Upper Sandusky taking them letters of welcome and educational material from Mayor Harold Koehler, the Red Cross, Carnegie public library, the Chamber of Commerce, Boy and Girl Scouts, the local chapter of the polio foundation and the office for Aid For the Aged. She will also have gifts and gift certificates for the newcomers from the merchants sponsoring the activity. In addition to visiting new families in the community, she will visit the mothers of new babies, engaged girls and teen-age girls celebrating birthdays.

Progress of Farm Program Reviewed

The 10th annual pure bred gilt program of the Chamber of Commerce is making good progress, it was revealed Friday at the monthly meeting of the Chamber's agriculture committee.

Roy Holdridge, committee chairman, presided at the noon meeting in Hotel Harding and gave a review of the program for the benefit of new members. Plans were also discussed for the annual gilt program luncheon March 26 at Hotel Harding.

Also discussed was the April rural-urban visitation program. It was decided to invite business men to a luncheon with the committee followed by visits to two or three farms in the area. Lloyd Calhoun, Fred Hoch and Harley Mayers were appointed to report at the February meeting on possible farms to visit.

New members joining the agriculture committee Friday were J. W. Arnold, Robert C. Miller and Lewis Zimmerman.

Price Resigns U.N. Position

Top American Leaves Post After 7½ Years

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Byron Price, top American in the U. N. secretariat, retired today.

The former executive news editor of The Associated Press left his $22,000-a-year post as assistant secretary general after almost seven years of service.

His two main achievements, as head of the department of administrative and financial services, were: (1) supervision of the multimillion - dollar building project which produced the glittering skyscraper headquarters of the world organization, and (2) helping in the drive to rid the secretariat of suspected American Communists.

His only plans for the future, he says, are to grow tomatoes, cut grass and go fishing. He and Mrs Price have purchased a small place on the Chester River, in Chestertown, Md. Here, with their French poodle and their treasured books, they plan to stay.

Although our cities are growing, nearly half our population growth in 10 years has been in the suburbs of our big cities.

America is going suburban...

In our 12 largest metropolitan areas, 72% of their growth between 1940 and 1950 was in the suburbs!

In this shift to the suburbs, there's been a growing need for more homes . . . for more apartment dwellings . . . for more branch stores and shops.

Life insurance funds are playing a major role in this changing picture by financing much of this building activity.

For example, a large portion of the funds needed to build housing developments and rental dwellings has come from the life insurance companies.

And as more and more people have moved to the suburbs and bought homes of their own, the life insurance companies have invested an increasing amount of their policyholders' funds in home mortgages.

In addition, these funds have helped finance the building of many of the shops, stores and small factories you see sprouting up in the suburbs.

* * *

Of course, the main reason people buy life insurance is for the protection and security of their families. But, until the funds paid in are returned as benefits, they are used as investment money to help the community and the country as a whole. And at the same time, the interest they earn helps keep down the cost of life insurance.

Two Good Reasons

Dressmaker Discovers Women Best Salesmen

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Some of the best salesmen in the country are housewives, says Phil Meyers, of Cincinnati, who hires 50 000 of them

Meyers makes dresses and sells 2½ million of them a year through women working in their spare time in their own communities Using the door-to-door sales method, he has built up what is probably the biggest dress business in the world He bases his entire operation on his faith in the honesty and industry of the average American woman

Must Have Purpose

What makes women want to do this kind of work

"Women have to have a specific purpose in mind, for which they need a certain amount of money," says Meyers "Maybe one woman wants a new dining room suite, another has set her heart on a new car Her husband's income can't be stretched any further, so she goes to work to earn what she wants And often she quits when she has reached her goal"

Meyers has another basic belief he thinks he has proved beyond question The best person to sell anything to a woman is another woman

He illustrates it this way

'Women speak a different language from men That may sound silly, but it's true Ask any husband He'll tell you he's way beyond his depth when his wife starts explaining how she saved $10 by buying two dresses for $25 instead of one for $15 and then spent the $10 for a new pair of shoes since she had saved it anyway.

Another Understands

'Another woman understands that language perfectly, and probably uses it in her sales talk A woman also knows what points are important to a woman who is buying a dress She knows what kind of occasions the dress will be worn for what kind of style will fit a certain kind of figure, and what new fashion points to emphasize

"Women are wonderful. I couldn't do business without them"

Meyers started his door-to-door marketing of dresses shortly after he finished college and went into his father's dress business in Cincinnati. He tired of dealing with department store buyers, and advertised for women salesmen. The response was enthusiastic The business has been growing ever since

Texas Women Balk at Paying Social Security

MARSHALL, Tex (AP)—Rebuffed by the Supreme Court, Marshall's rebellious housewives say by gum they're still not paying social security taxes on wages of domestic servants

In their first move since the Supreme Court refused to hear their appeal from adverse lower court decisions the housewives Saturday fired off a letter to Internal Revenue Commissioner T Coleman Andrews

They told him they are again filing quarterly income tax reports but are making no payments and charged the courts have based their rulings on tax law instead of constitutional law.

The housewives argue they cannot constitutionally be forced to serve as tax collectors Their leader, Mrs Carolyn Abney told reporters We have been given a judicial runaround"

Several times internal revenue agents have tapped the women's bank accounts for enough money to cover the tax they claim is due

Spokesman for America

The President of the United States has the job, among others, of saying what his fellow citizens are ready to hear. He is their spokesman.

When it is time to declare an emergency, he declares one. When it is time to express confidence, he expresses confidence.

President Eisenhower, in a message to Congress, has expressed confidence. He has offset the gloomy statements gushing from the duplicating machine of his critics — people trying to induce an economic disaster so they can pick up the pieces.

There is a grim "battle for men's minds" right here in the United States.

The side for which President Eisenhower speaks believes Americans do not have to depend on bloodshed for prosperity; that peace is not a national emergency; that confidence is better than panic.

This side believes there is no present emergency and that even if there were it would not justify a revival of the authoritarian philosophy which pervaded the New Deal, Fair Deal and Raw Deal.

It believes, as it did when World War II ended and men like Henry W. Wallace wanted to set up a planned economy, that the most confidence-inspiring force in the United States is the unchecked initiative of 160 million Americans.

The Eisenhower administration is betting on the American people and betting against the gloomy credo of croakers who say the alternative to war booms is to share national poverty with schemes of socialism.

The side for which President Eisenhower is speaking is the only side an American citizen who believes in America can join.

The President is speaking for faith in America. His critics are speaking for lack of faith in America.

The Public Always Pays

One argument used by the trucking industry in its attempt to scuttle the axle-distance tax in Ohio and New York is unworthy of the intelligent men and women who operate the industry.

They argue that the tax will be paid by people who use the services of their industry, not by the industry itself. In this way they hope to enlist allies in their fight on the tax.

All taxes are collected ultimately from the general public. This is no secret.

The heavy taxes collected from railroads, for example, are paid by people who use railroad facilities; the railroads are only collection agencies.

The general public pays for everything that goes into the cost of every public service, whether it's truck transportation, railroad transportation or a combination of the two. It pays for all fees, licenses, taxes and other charges. It pays for the interest on capital, for insurance and for profit.

That's the way business is done under the free-enterprise system.

Eventually, the trucking industry in the United States — in all states of the United States — will have to bear a larger proportionate share of the cost of building and maintaining the heavy-duty roads which truck traffic requires.

The only thing unusual about Ohio in this respect is the fact its highway system is one of the first to need large-scale rehabilitation because the state handles a disproportionately large share of interstate truck traffic.

If the trucking industry were to scuttle Ohio's axle-distance tax, it would be scuttling the road-improvement program which can keep it in business in this vital state. In that event, its customers would have to pay for a shortsighted policy of opposition to an overdue rehabilitation program.

Newspaper Circulation Up

The annual roundup of newspaper circulation figures by Editor & Publisher shows another annual increase in daily sales — more than half a million.

This is not surprising in the light of an ever-growing population but it is significant in the light of an idea common a few years ago.

The idea was—and still is in some quarters—that the competition for people's time represented by television would hurt newspapers.

Before television, radio was supposed to hurt newspapers. Before radio it was the automobile and the movies.

But the more that people learn, see and hear, the more they want to learn, see and hear. There is no point of satiety in their capacity to be interested in being alive. There may be a point of satiety in the time they can spend, but it is not likely to be reached in the foreseeable future.

This has been an important discovery. Most people honestly believed their capacity for mental stimulation and physicial activity had been reached 100 years ago before they did any of the new "time-consuming" things they are doing now, with still enough time left over to wonder what they will do next.

Good-Conduct Discharges

By Edward K. Nellor

Government Workers Not Likely To Get Citation

WASHINGTON — Senate Republicans are doing very little talking today regarding President Eisenhower's proposal to award good-conduct citations to government employees separated from federal service for reasons other than security.

In a series of telephone calls asking for publishable comment on the suggestion, not a single senator in more than a dozen tries had anything to offer for public consumption at the moment.

Several volunteered the conclusion off the record that good-conduct awards won't work. Asked why, most pointed out the recent case of the late Harry Dexter White's departure from the public payroll.

White, in effect, received good-conduct letters from former President Harry S. Truman, the Secretary of the Treasury and from numerous other government officials, who at that time were in a position to know about suspicions of his alleged disloyalty.

NOBODY IN POLITICS today, at least among those responding to questions concerning the President's proposal, has any desire to have a similar epistle return to haunt him as several have haunted previous administration officials in the White case.

There is also the matter of red tape involved in the presidential good - conduct citation subject. Thousands of employees across the nation are separated from the federal service daily for one reason or another. To control the issuance of good conduct letters centrally would lead to the creation of another huge letter writing bureaucracy in one of the existing government departments, or in a new agency. It would cost money, lots of it, since every employee eligible would have to be investigated, or his record reviewed to avoid the embarrassing happenstance of an award to a security suspect in the event any remain on the federal payroll.

THE PRESIDENT'S suggestion may travel the same route a previous one appears destined to go, which also surprised members of Congress. This one was to deny the rights of citizenship to anyone convicted in court of attempting to overthrow the government by force or violence.

Senators and House members juggled this one around for a few days, never quite sure what to say about it, and several have introduced bills in Congress to implement the White House suggestion. It is expected, however, that the last has been heard of the idea.

Persistent and annoying demands have been directed at the White House concerning the security firings ever since the President and other Republicans mentioned the fact that since January a year ago more than 2,000 federal employees have been chopped off the payroll for security reasons.

Democrats, of course, deny that this means they harbored 2,000 Communists on the payroll. Republicans say they meant no such thing in making the statement, although the firings have been used as a political needle a time or two.

MR. EISENHOWER took note of demands from Democrats that the munists fired be made public. Dem- exact number of suspected Comocrats say it will be very few. Republicans, specifically Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R., Wis.), say it will run as high as 90 per cent of the 2,000 or more if homosexuals are included.

At any rate, the White House would like to silence the clamor, without going through the tedious business of determining just who got fired for what. It's a bad precedent, according to a White House spokesman, who said the effort now is to get away from red tape instead of tangling in more of it.

Right now the prospects for good-conduct awards to government job-holders who depart from the payroll is about as remote as the possibility of complying with demands from Democrats to list the exact number of Communists, or suspects, who have been fired in the past year. If the list is long Democrats don't want to hear about it, if it is short Republicans will hesitate to admit it.

Conversation-Stoppers

By TRUMAN TWILL

Every person needs a supply of conversation - stoppers. Maybe he has to catch a bus. Maybe he wants to break off what has turned into a lot of nothing.

These are guaranteed to stop any conversation:

1. Roll the eyes, swallow hard several times, clutch at the innards and mumble thickly, "I must get out into the air," or "I must get in where it's warm," depending on whether you're in or out. Then leave.

2. Look past the conversationalist, if there are other persons in sight, and say in a tone of vibrant excitement, "Excuse me. I see a chance to collect $100."

3. Dilate nostrils and request a glass of water. The request cannot be refused. When the sucker goes for the water, you go for the exit.

4. Wait for a spate of seemingly unanswerable declarations, then reply in a tone of bored authoritativeness, "Yes, but the Amberdeen Digest for October, 1938, said it had been proved in 73.7 per cent of all cases of that kind that the victim failed to show the same symptoms." The other guy will break off the conversation as quickly as possible, because he won't have any phony statistics handy.

5. Pick out a minor flaw, such as the mispronunciaton of a word. Pounce on it. Smile in a superior manner. Be condescending and big about a surprising manifestation of ignorance. This will convince the other party to the conversation he should be repairing a roof or cleaning a stable — anything to get away from you.

6. Blow your stack over an inconsequential detail. Tie down the whistle cord. Make the other fellow conspicuous by shaking a bony finger under his nose. Accuse him of a variety of crimes. He will slink away in a hurry.

7. Quote something at length, preferably poetry, in a foreign language. This need not be literal. Anything will do. The idea is to derail the conversation. "Igenspoggle der schnitzelkraut," as Goethe said.

8. Go gushy. Exclaim extravagantly at everything that's said. Clap hands. Make a federal case of the deal. Watch for signs of discomfiture, such as a reddening of the neck behind and below the ears. This will mean relief is on the way.

9. Mumble. Hold back on the voice box. Throw in some double talk. Add a few non-sequiturs. The conversation will be over before you know it.

10. Drag out the old chestnuts. Ask what somebody who doesn't care thinks about Missouri v. Holland. Ask what somebody thinks about Maxim v. Moore. Quote from the ruling in the case of Bee v. Dee. Even lawyers will be driven away.

11. Get out photographs of your children, your relatives and pets.

12. Threaten to make everybody read newspaper and magazine clippings you happen to have with you.

13. Mention Camille while coughing. There is no reason anyone should be at a loss for a way to stop a conversation.

The ability to laugh at the ridiculous is a valuable professional asset to almost everyone except a golf caddy.

Dakotas Challenge Texas for Oil Title

WILLISTON, N.D. Until early 1951, the name Williston Basin was unfamiliar to most Americans, even though most of the basin area lies within this country and despite its great dimensions. It blankets roughly 240,000 square miles as it sprawls over two-thirds of North Dakota, extends into parts of Montana and South Dakota, and finally reaches past the Canadian border into Saskatchewan and Manitoba.

Prior to 1951, the prarie landscape of the basin was broken only by occasional wheat and dairy farms. In the minds of many of its residents lingered unhappy memories of the dust storms that during the early 1930s had suffocated farms and towns alike, leaving desolation throughout vast stretches of the basin. Dust-choked land had been offered for sale for as little as 50 cents an acre.

Then on April 5, 1951, oil was found in the Willson Basin. A well being drilled on a wheat farm near the town of Tioga, N.D., "Came in" below 11,000 feet with an initial capacity of some 300 barrels a day.

IMMEDIATELY, major and small oil companies, together with independent operators, raced to buy land leases. Sections of the basin became the most sought-after wildcat acreage in the United States. Some lease payments to land owners for subsurface mineral rights skyrocketed to more than $2,000 an acre. Lease and royalty buyers and their agents crowded into small basin communities by the hundreds. Williston alone saw the establishment of nearly 100 new business houses, all directly connected with oil activity.

Now, almost three years since oil was discovered, what's happening in the basin?

More than one-half of all North Dakota is under oil lease, and it is estimated that total basin land under lease may be as high as 80 per cent of the potential area.

Drilling is going ahead at a rapid rate. About 550 wells have been drilled in the U.S. portion of the basin. More than 350 have been oil producers, three - fourths located in North Dakota, the remainder in eastern Montana. To date, 14 separate oil fields have been proven in the Montana area of the basin, while 11 fields have been found in North Dakota. The most important producing field is the Beaver Lodge field in northwest North Dakota. It covers more than 2,300 proven acres and is producing 7,568 barrels of oil a day.

THE BASIN is currently producing an average of 24,000 barrels of oil a day, slightly more han half of this total coming from North Dakota. At present, 53 new wells are being drilled over the area.

A notable discovery was made recently when for the first time oil was found in South Dakota, in the basin sector of that state. Indications are that it will produce about 240 barrels of oil per day. It makes South Dakota the 29th oil or gas producing state in the nation and is spurring efforts at further discoveries there.

Compared to total United States daily production of around 6,500,000,000 barrels, the basin's daily oil output is only a drop in a very spacious bucket. Even now in the early stages of its development, the basin is capable of producing more oil. However, extensive processing and transportation facilities must be built and put in operation before production can be hiked.

A modern oil refinery is a monster plant, a maze of pipes, tanks and towers with equipment sometimes covering hundreds of acres and costing millions of dollars.

THREE REFINERIES, having a combined daily output of 33,500 barrels, are under construction at Mandan, Dickinson and Williston, all in North Dakota.

Major pipeline construction is keeping pace with the refinery program. A recently completed 10 million dollar 10-inch line is now carrying products 207 miles from Moorehead, Minn., to the site of the Mandan refinery where cargoes are stored in three 96,000-barrel tanks.

When the refinery is put on steam next fall, the flow of products through this line will be reversed and cargoes will be transported to the Middlewest. Then the refinery will receive shipments of crude oil through a pipeline originating at Tioga, 154 miles distant, which will be completed shortly.

Geologists claim the basin is the largest single area favorable to the accumulation of oil on the North American continent. This does not mean, however, that the basin has become the richest oil region on the continent. It ranks only as our newest important producing region. Early estimates have placed the basin's potential production as in excess of 2,500,000,000 barrels. This is considerably less than the 10,000,000,000 barrels estimated for the fabulous Permian Basin in West Texas. Even so, it is expected that by 1967 the fields of the Willston Basin will be producing around 50,000 barrels of oil every day.

EXPERIENCE shows that wells in North Dakota must be drilled to greater than average depths to find production. Therefore, they are very costly. Since oil was discovered in 1951, oilmen have spent roughly 300 - million dollars in bringing the basin along to its present stage of development. An outlay of another 100 million will be made this year. Against this huge capital expenditure, the value of oil produced in the basin to date amounts to about 16 million dollars.

Today, the daily yield of oil from the basin's young fields is just enough to fill one big steel oil barge. Despite the intense development activity of the last 34 months, really large production from the basin still waits for the future.

The oil strike of 1951, was only the first of a long series of important events. Now, many more exploratory wells remain to be drilled; producing fields have to be defined and new fields located; more storage tanks, pipelines, refineries and other extensive facilities must take shape to handle the increased production that will flow from the basin of tomorrow.

It is to this vital task of growth and greater productivity that thousands of competing oil companies are dedicating their financial and technical resources.

Explosions at Work

By THOMAS R. HENRY

Harnessed explosions promise to be an important new tool for industry.

Already important progress has been made in a research project headed by Dr. Thomas C. Poulter at Stanford University Research Institute. With less than a half ounce of explosive, for example, steel bars three inches in diameter are being cut neatly with energies reaching as high as 50,000 horsepower. A specially shaped charge has been developed for penetrating oil well casings. This charge contains less than an ounce of explosive and releases energy equivalent to 34,000 horsepower.

"Even in the mundane matter of postholes," says a report from the institute, controlled explosions are finding a place. "Energy is applied at the rate of 1,000 horsepower and makes neat holes in a matter of seconds."

The enormous power in almost any explosive process long has been recognized, but it is almost uncontrollable. Under Dr. Poulter's direction 27 scientists now are at work on the problem, the institute announces, and considerable success has been achieved. Most of the information obtained, however, is still restricted.

"In experiments conducted by the group" the report says, "it has been possible to apply mechanical energy by means of an explosive charge at a rate equivalent to that which would be produced by the combined output of all the hydroelectric power plants in the world. No other way is known by which such high application of power can be controlled and applied to do a special job."

The great difficulty has been that the force of an explosion goes out in all directions. The problem is to channel a great part of it in one direction.

It's kind of an insult to a costly product like coffee to brew it with water, so maybe we might boil it in champagne, the way Frederick the Great used to do.

The Once Over

Big Four Meeting

(An imaginary impression of the first day's session)

Mr. Dulles—Well, here we are at last.

Mr. Eden—I would still like verification to prove this session is not just a rumor.

Mr. Bidault—Shall we proceed any further or quit when each thinks he is ahead?

Mr. Dulles—Gentlemen, the eyes of the world are on us. Always assuming there aren't too many things on TV at the moment.

Mr. Eden—We were smart to keep this an afternoon program.

Mr. Molotov—I wish to vote "No."

Mr. Dulles—Nothing has been proposed for a vote yet.

Mr. Molotov—The U.S.S.R. votes "No" first and hears the proposition later.

Mr. Dulles—We were hoping there was an outside chance Russia might be ready to change her obstructive routine.

Mr. Molotov—The word "outside" is right.

Mr. Bidault—I call this meeting extremely encouraging. We have been together almost five minutes and not a skull cracked yet!

Mr. Eden—Let us not interpret this too optimistically. The danger of trouble will always exist when we assemble to talk of peace. It's a fighting word.

Mr. Dulles—It is my hope the time has arrived when we can at least establish a proper mood. We must not hold each other at arms length exchanging frozen stares.

Mr. Molotov—I resent that implication of a frozen stare.

Mr. Dulles—I was not referring to any unilateral stare.

Mr. Molotov—I am instructed to vote "No" on item two.

Mr. Eden—Item two hasn't come up.

Mr. Molotov—I am directed to vote it early anyhow. And now I rise to reply to the speech of the delegate from the United States regarding pooling fissionable materials

Mr. Dulles—But I haven't made my speech yet.

Mr. Molotov—My reply is the same before or after speeches by an American delegate. If you boys think your speeches should precede Russia's replies, you are heading for trouble. You can prove a sincere desire to get along with Russia by waiving that point.

Mr. Bidault—But if nobody has even made a speech and you reply to it, how can anybody know if your answer makes sense.

Mr. Molotov (indignantly)—Sense he is asking!

Mr. Eden—Surely we can manage somehow to establish a mood of compatibility.

Mr. Molotov—Okay, I vote for a pool of compatibility. But only if America puts in fifty per cent of the compatibility, England thirty per cent and France the other twenty per cent.

Mr. Dulles—It is clear to me that the Soviet Union intends only to hamper and obstruct the aims of this meeting.

Mr. Molotov—You mean you had DOUBTS!

Cigarets Cause 2 Minor Fires

Four Weekend Calls Answered in Marion

Burning cigarets were blamed for two of four fires in Marion over the weekend, city firemen reported today.

There was some $30 damage to the front seat of an automobile owned by LeRoy Mitchell of near Marion when a burning cigaret set it on fire at 9:51 p.m. Saturday. The car was parked in front of 502 W. Center St. Central station firemen answered the alarm.

At 6:33 p.m. last night, Central and W. Center St. station firemen were called out by a fire scare at the Oakland Pure Oil service station at 781 Davids St. Firemen from the W. New Non-Support Act Used in Crawford County

BUCYRUS — The uniform non-support act has been used for the first time by Crawford County Common Pleas Court officials against a defendant found guilty of non-support in the county but now living in Texas.

The defendant is Richard H. Christman, a former air force officer, now living in Austin, Tex. Action for non-support of his three children was brought by his former wife, Mrs. Eleanor McAdams of Bucyrus.

Judge John C. Carroll has ruled that Christman was guilty of non-support and invoked the reciprocal non-support, certifying all papers to Texas for further proceedings.

Before the act became effective, the court had not found it practical to go to the expense of extradition in instances where those found guilty of non-support had left the state, Judge Carroll pointed out.

Europe Chilled By Cold Wave

Wintry Blasts Called Worst in Seven Years

LONDON (AP)—The bitterest cold wave in seven years gripped ice and snowbound Europe from Portugal to Siberia today with no relief in sight.

At least 35 persons have died in the weeklong freeze up, including 28 skaters who drowned in England and Holland and 5 children who froze to death in France. Two men died from the cold in southern England yesterday.

Temperatures ranged from 11 below zero in the Bavarian Alps of southern Germany to 30 above in Lisbon, where snow fell this morning for the first time in many years. It was 2 below in Berlin, zero in Hamburg, 5 above in Paris and 6 above at Hurn in South England.

Snow fell as far south as Marseille along the French Riviera. Rivers, canals and seaports were blocked by ice in England, Holland, Germany and Denmark.

New Zealander Chief of Two U.N. Councils

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—For the first time in U.N. history, one diplomat today headed two major councils of the United Nations.

Leslie Knox Munro, New Zealand's 52-year-old ambassador to the U.N. and to the United States, took over the presidency of the Security Council for a month. He already heads the U.N. Trusteeship Council.

Munro said today the Security Council has come back into action after months of inactivity and he must arranged his schedule of council meetings to avoid conflicts. He termed the new activity in the council a good sign.

The security group's presidents come up for monthly terms in the English alphabetical order of the countries on the body. New Zealand took a seat Jan. 1 for the first time.

Charges and countercharges are flying between the Arab countries and Israel. The council faces meetings this month on Palestine problems.

Runaway Ski Lift Sends Passengers Leaping to Safety

CHEWELAH, Wash. (AP)—A ski lift jammed yesterday and ran uncontrolled in reverse for 30 terrifying seconds as passengers jumped to escape being pulled into the lower terminal where the power equipment was installed.

Don L. Katke, Robert Katke and Roy Shetter, all of Spokane, were injured when they jumped from the $50,000 chair lift.

Officials of the Chewelah Peak Ski Club said an expert's report of the cause of the accident probably will not be available until early this week.

A boy about 10 years old was virtually dragged from his seat when the bottommost chair started to enter the lower terminal.

The reversal was stopped when the lower four chairs became tangled in the bull wheel of the lower terminal.

Hiroshima Victims Of A-Bomb To File Suits Against U.S.

TOKYO (AP)—The Hiroshima Atom Bomb Victims Assn. said today it plans to file damage suits against the United States in American courts as soon as possible.

The association said it would ask the courts to award $2,777 to families of each Japanese who died in the world war atom bomb raids on Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Kyodo news agency said leading lawyers here say the suits would not have a chance in American courts.

"A belligerent power has no right or privilege to seek damage action as a result of war," Kyodo quoted outstanding lawyers.

More than 150,000 persons were killed in the atom bomb blasts, Kyodo said.

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Harold E. Stassen, speaking yesterday at the 52nd annual memorial service for President William McKinley, declared religious convictions will give America a sense of direction.

Stassen, director of the Foreign Operations Administration, said McKinley's decision to go to war with Spain was made with a spiritual conviction that showed him Spain's treatment of Cuba was not right.

Federal Securities Give Many Cities Big Profit

CHICAGO (UP) — Cities and towns which put their idle funds into U. S Government securities may earn as much as a property tax would bring in, according to the Municipal Finance Officers Association.

The association said Columbia, S. C., is earning about $6,500 a month by keeping 90 per cent of its cash assets in investments. The city expects to earn $50,000 from this source during the current fiscal year. For the fiscal year ended June 30, Columbia earned a total of $23,240 by keeping all idle funds invested in government securities

Other municipalities which have adopted the idea are El Segundo, Calif., and Peabody, Mass., the association said.

El Segundo bought $298,377 worth of 90-day treasury bills. Peabody bought $540,000 in treasury bills dated July 2 to mature Oct. 1. The net cost to the city was $537,134, which meant a $2,966 gain in three months.

How Many Were Reds, Newsmen Ask

Details of Security Firings Demanded

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—How many Communists has the Eisenhower administration found in the government since it took over from the Truman administration one year ago?

Newspapermen have been unable to get the answer.

They have tried individually and collectively at news conferences with President Eisenhower and Atty. Gen. Brownell.

This much is known:

On Oct. 23 the White House announced 1,456 persons had been separated from the government "for security reasons." It said 863 of them were fired and 593 resigned.

Within 2½ months the administration increased its total by almost 50 per cent.

In his State of the Union message Jan. 7, Eisenhower said, "Under the standards established for the new employes security program, more than 2,200 employes have been separated from the federal government."

It was because of these standards that newsmen asked how many of the 2,200 were actually subversive—that is, Communists or fellow travelers—and how many were fired for other reasons.

When he took over last year, Eisenhower told the Justice Department to draw up a program which would replace former President Truman's.

Under Truman's program a distinction was made beween "loyalty" and "security." An employe could be fired if there was doubt of his loyalty. Or he could be fired if his habits or associations made him a "security risk" in a sensitive job.

In the six years of its existence, 557 persons about whose loyalty there was doubt, were fired or denied jobs.

On April 27, 1953, Eisenhower announced a new program prepared by Brownell. It eliminated the old distinction between loyalty and security. Now a person can be fired if his employment is "not clearly consistent with the interest of national security."

This includes not only Communists and fellow travelers but drunks, homosexuals, liars, blabbermouths and mental cases.

Since no one in the administration has provided an answer, it is possible that the 2,200 people let out for security reasons were nearly all Communists. It is equally possible that none or only a handful were Communists and the rest drunks and liars.

Rep. Francis Walter (D-Pa) says only seven of the 2,200 were discharged on loyalty grounds.

But Sen. McCarthy on Nov. 24—one month after the White House said 1,456 were let out and before the 2,200 figure was given, said the government had "gotten rid of 1,456, all of whom were security risks and practically all of whom were removed because of Communist connections and activities or perversion."

Eisenhower himself has said not all of those turned out under the security program could be described as "subversive" or "disloyal." It would be wrong, he said, to assume a man dismissed as a security risk is disloyal. And he said some of those involved probably resigned to take other jobs without knowing they were being investigated.

When newsmen sought a breakdown from Eisenhower, he referred them to Brownell. Brownell declined to give it, but referred his questioners to Philip Young, head of the Civil Service Commission.

But Young referred questions back to the White House. Quizzed again, Eisenhower said it might not be feasible ever to provide a breakdown

Lady Mayor Confronted By Many Extra Duties

AVALON, N. J. (UP) — Mayor Edith Greenan is a combination economist, administrator, business woman and self-appointed cat catcher.

She has to be a little of each.

This resort's "lady mayor" has been elected by the borough's 700 voters three times in succession. Despite her extracurricular activities of operating a real estate business and a gift shop, she finds time to run her own home, do her own cooking and read mystery stories.

Included in her public duties are supervision of the borough's police force and keeping the resort out of the red.

The cat-catching came after she found that stray animals left behind by the resort's 10,000 summer visitors presented a problem.

Mayor Greenan said she had no particular affection for cats prior to taking office, but gradually developed a liking for the wandering animals.

The "lady mayor" now is the proud owner of 404 cats. But only four are real

90-Year-Old Woman Is Making Family Ties Into a Big Business

NEW YORK (UP)—Regina Margareten, at 90, might well be called the nation's "matriarch of Matriarchs."

Her family is sizable, at last count, there were about 500 close members, spread across the world from California to Israel.

But Mrs. Margareten, a great grandmother and a businesswoman for nearly 70 years, has found a way to keep track of her family in a business-like way.

She formed and organization, probably the only international family association in operation. The Horowitz-Margareten Family Association is run as carefully as the million-dollar food business Mrs. Margareten helped her husband to develop from a tiny grocery her father started when he came to the United States from Budapest 70 years ago.

The association has a New York headquarters and a board of directors representing 18 states and seven foreign countries.

It publishes a monthly newsletter to keep members of the family informed of the doings of others—births, deaths, parties, and the experiences of Horowitzes and Margaretens from Hollywood to Ogden, Utah; from Lima, Peru, to Tel Aviv.

The organization also arranges family reunions, and enable prosperous members to help needy relatives here and abroad. It works full tilt sending food packages, clothing and money to member families behind the Iron Curtain. There are 18 member families in Hungary, 10 in Romania.

It also helps Iron Curtain refugees to settle in new lands. A refugee fund has been part of the association since World War II. With the fund's help, 14 member families have settled in Mexico, 35 in Israel, 12 in Cuba, several in Peru, and one family of 10 in Santo Domingo.

Mrs. Margareten still takes active part in the food business she and her husband took over when her father died. She is treasurer, and reports to the office every day to taste, test and small the firm's products.

During the years, Mrs. Margareten has reared six children, and made 18 trips overseas. Only a few year ago she decided she would like to drive her own car. But motor vehicle officials told her she was too old to get a license.

Much of her time also has been given to philanthropic enterprises, and today she is a member of 107 institutions and organizations.

Her summers are spent at her estate in Hunter, N. Y. There are seven cottages on the estate to accommodate the families which visit her.

Mrs. Margareten, still bright-eyed, active and style conscious, says:

"No, I never have developed any hobbies. I've never had time."

The only surviving example of the Button Swan keel-type catboat, built in Newport, R. E., 1860-1880, is on exhibit at Mystic Seaport, Conn.

THANKS

To all of my customers for making my job as a Star newspaperboy so profitable and such fun!

THANKS in particular to those customers who....

1. PAY ME ON TIME and try their best to pay me in small bills that I am likely to have change for. You know if we fail to collect our money from you we are the ones who lose. We buy our newspapers from The Star and like any businessman must pay our bills each week whether we collect or not. MY profit is affected when you don't pay.

2. CHECK THE CIRCUMSTANCES BEFORE MAKING A COMPLAINT You know I get sick once in a while too. I sometimes have to have a helper or a substitute who may be slower in getting your paper around. Then too, you know the weather may hold me up at times. Please check carefully before you complain.

3. REALIZE I AM TRYING MY BEST and that I appreciate a friendly smile in return for the one I give.

4. KEEP THEIR DOGS TIED You know, this can be a problem at times. When an untethered dog takes after me it slows up my route and makes things just that much tougher.

It's folks like you who really make a newspaper route a swell job! Thanks again.
